Crude Bomb Explodes In Radio City Theater, Injuring Two Women

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—A crude bomb made out of a length of pipe exploded under a seat in the Radio City Music Hall movie theater tonight.

Two women were superficially injured, and about 50 persons nearby stood up after the muffled blast, but there was no panic. There were 6,200 persons in the theater at the time. About a thousand waiting in line outside did not hear the explosion.

French-German Flareup On Saar Threatens Pact

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—A new flareup between France and West Germany on the Saar and the uncertainties of French politics reminded Allied diplomats today there is a big difference between signing a pact on West German rearmament and getting one ratified.

Some of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition partners at Bonn intensified their criticism of the two-week-old Saar agreement which France regards as the touchstone of the whole new Allied plan to muster German manpower into Western defenses.

More Negotiations Asked
Some West German leaders are now demanding more negotiations on the Saar's status. Stoutly opposing any review of the decision to preserve the French-Saar economic union and to Europeanize the Saar under a neutral commissioner, the French refused even to begin talks on details of the Saar accord until late this month.

The Germans wanted Jean Sou-tou, a high official of the French Foreign Ministry, to confer at Bonn this week on possible modifications of the Saar agreement.

Adenauer's difficulties within his own coalition raised the prospect that reversing what happened in the case of the European Defense Community—France might approve the German rearmament plan while West Germany rejected it.

French Confidence Vote Set

Meanwhile, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France has been forced to make his 1955 budget an issue of confidence in the National Assembly Tuesday on a relatively minor point, the appropriation for the Postal Ministry. A defeat would sweep Mendes-France from office. Seasoned observers predicted, however, that he will win easily.

The Assembly's foreign affairs committee jolted Mendes-France last week by naming Jules Moch, a foe of German rearmament, its spokesman to the Assembly on the new plan. But Moch declined, saying he wanted to stay with the French delegation to the U.N. to handle disarmament questions. The committee then gave the job to Gen. Pierre Billotte, who favors the current scheme.

Strike Against Key Atom Plants Averted

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., Nov. 7 (AP)—A threatened strike against key atomic plants at Oak Ridge and Paducah, Ky., was averted today when company and union officials reached agreement on a package wage proposal.

Under its terms 3,500 Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co. employees here and 1,000 at Paducah will receive a 6-cent-an-hour wage increase retroactive to April 15, an additional 4 cent increase effective next Jan. 15, and an improved holiday schedule.

The retroactive pay will total an estimated $315,000. The government will have to pay this as well as the salary increases as Carbide operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission on a cost-plus basis.

Three Teen-Age Boys Killed In Auto Crash

GREENVILLE, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Two autos sideswiped near here early today then veered off the highway and crashed, killing three teen-age boys and injuring five others.

Killed were: Joseph Thompson Jr., 18, of Sharon; Richard Roux, 18, of Sharon; Matthew Good, 18, of Sharpsville, R.D. 1.

Senator Calls It 'Lynching Party'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) voiced doubt today that leaders of his own party will vote to censure him when the Senate returns tomorrow for an extraordinary session to take up the charges against him.

He renewed his prediction, however, that the censure move will carry, saying his opponents have "plenty of votes" lined up. But, denouncing the whole proceeding as "a lynching party," he declared:

"I don't think the Republican leadership is going to go along with this." He added, however, he has no "commitment" to this effect from GOP Senate Leader Knowland (Calif.) or other Republican leaders.

Censure Recommended

The Wisconsin senator gave his views in a CBS televised interview on the eve of the Senate's resuming its 1954 session to consider a special committee recommendation that he be censured on three counts of conduct unbecoming a senator.

He said he would make public his financial affairs only if somebody produced "any evidence of wrongdoing on my part," and if at the same time all other senators bare their finances, too.

McCarthy said he thought the Republicans would have done better in last week's election if they had hit hard earlier on the Communist issue — or, as he put it, on "the infiltration of Communists" into government under Democratic administrations.

President "Avoided" Issue

He said, speaking of President Eisenhower, he was "rather surprised to find our good President for the most part avoiding" this issue in the campaign, though he said Vice President Nixon in the final weeks of campaigning "did a good job" of stressing the Communist question.

For his own part, McCarthy said he will not turn over the names of any of his confidential informants to the Democrats when they take over the chairmanship of Senate committees — including his permanent investigations subcommittee — next January.

North Carolina Governor Dies

DURHAM, N.C., Nov. 7 (AP)—Gov. William B. Umstead, 59, a former U.S. representative and senator who supported many New Deal measures, died of a heart ailment in Watts Hospital here today.

The lifelong North Carolina Democrat who rose from a tobacco farmer to a prosperous Durham lawyer, congressman and governor in losing only one election in 30 years, was regarded as a middle-of-the-road governor.

Mrs. Umstead and their only child, a 12-year-old daughter, Merle Bradley Umstead, were at the hospital when the governor died of what his physician said was heart failure and bronchial pneumonia.

The governor suffered a heart attack two days after he was inaugurated Jan. 8, 1953, and was in Watts Hospital almost a month. He returned to the hospital from the capital in nearby Raleigh last Thursday after a severe cold aggravated his heart condition.

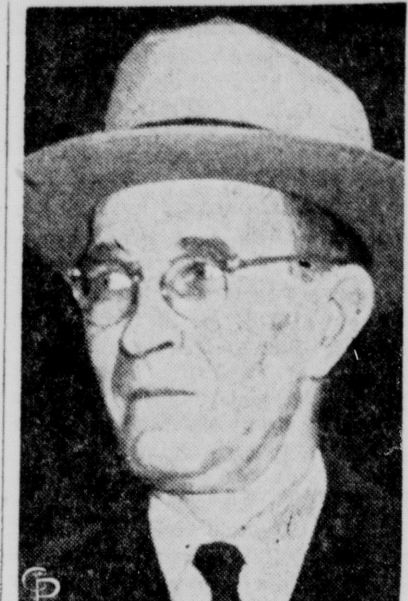

Tobacco-Cancer Research Grants Made By Committee

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The tobacco industry research committee announced today six grants totaling $82,000 for research into the possible effects of tobacco use on health.

Also today, a book was published in which a surgeon and cancer specialist — long an outspoken critic of all tobacco habits — charged the industry with irresponsibility.

Dr. Alton Ochsner wrote that a cause-and-effect relationship between tobacco usage and cancer and heart disease has been confirmed by studies already made.

Ochsner, former president of both the American College of Surgeons and the American Cancer Society, charged the tobacco industry with seeking "to postpone a day of reckoning for the irresponsible advertising and sale of its products."

N. C. GOVERNOR DIES—William B. Umstead (above), 59, governor of North Carolina and a former U. S. representative and senator, died of a heart ailment in a Durham, N. C., hospital yesterday.

Fumes From Hot Water Heater Kill 10 In Their Sleep

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Ten persons — a family of eight and another couple gathered to celebrate the christening of the young couple's first child — were killed in their sleep early today by fumes from a faulty gas water heater.

The tiniest victim, a 4-month-old girl, was dressed in the pink baptismal dress that was to have been used in the church ceremony this morning.

Shocked city officials began an immediate investigation. They said the water heater was faulty, the gas pressure was too high, and the appliance had been misused to heat the apartment.

Although two windows were partly open in the three-room tenement flat, one official said enough carbon monoxide had been formed to "kill off an entire squadron of men in half an hour."

The victims were Edubriges and Victoria Gonzales, in their late 20's, and their six children, ranging from 4 months to 10 years in age. Their guests were Domingo Matos, 31, and his wife, Armentina, 27.

The Matos' three young children were orphaned by the tragedy. Their parents had left them with relatives when they went to spend their last night with the Gonzales family.

Long before dawn today, another tenant in the building smelled smoke. Police and fire department were called.

The tenant pushed open the door of the Gonzales flat and found the kitchen full of smoke and steam. The steam came from overheated water in the tank.

A mop lying under the heater had caught fire and was smoldering, adding to the noxious fumes.

The 10 persons who had gone to sleep a few hours before, happily looking forward to Sunday's christening and a party, were all lifeless in their beds. Efforts to revive them were useless.

Clue To Missing Plane?

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—A Navy plane patrolling choppy waters off the Atlantic Ocean reported late today it had sighted a small object about 70 miles northeast of the last known position of the Navy Superconstellation plane which disappeared eight days ago with 42 persons aboard.

His book, "Smoking and Cancer," questioned the value of the program being carried out by the industry research committee.

A spokesman for the committee termed the book "just another propaganda device in the anti-tobacco crusade which the author has been carrying on for years."

The research grants were announced by Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the committee which was formed earlier this year by manufacturers and organizations of tobacco growers and warehousemen.

The grants went to researchers connected with the University of Southern California; Stanford University; Temple University; Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco; the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond; and Columbia University.

Malenkov, U.S. Envoy Confer At Reception

Kremlin Talks Held During Celebration Of Red Revolution

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov held an animated conversation in the full glare of a big Kremlin party celebrating the 37th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution tonight.

For a solid hour, too, diplomats, newsmen and their women guests gaped with curiosity as first Communist party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and then Malenkov held a similarly vigorous talk with Yugoslav Ambassador Dobrovoje Vidic.

Talks Overshadow Parade

These talks completely overshadowed the traditional military parade in Red Square. This time the parade was short, the massed display of civilian marchers greatly curtailed and the usual air show canceled because of bad weather.

Though the reviewing officer, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, speaking from the top of the Lenin-Stalin tomb, declared Russia must build her armed forces to a new peak of modern efficiency because of the activities of "warmongers," his speech was mild in that it hurled none of the usual barbs at the United States.

Then followed the talks at the Kremlin party given by smiling, genial Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for 2,000 guests at which Bohlen and Malenkov sat down at the same board together for the first time.

Bohlen later refused to tell newsmen what was talked about. He said "no business was transacted."

But some optimists among the staring diplomats present said it might lead to high level conferences among Malenkov, President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill.

McClellan Weighs Joint Red Probe Committee Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today he is considering introduction in the new Congress next January of a resolution to set up a Senate-House committee to handle all Red hunting probes.

It would have exclusive jurisdiction in this field, displacing the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

McClellan told an interviewer that he felt one joint committee would eliminate duplication and be more efficient.

The Democratic election victory last Tuesday has put McClellan in line to succeed McCarthy as chairman of the investigations subcommittee in the next Congress. He is also a member of the Internal Security subcommittee, now headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.).

The Internal Security unit was set up late in 1950 as the Senate's chief Communist investigating committee, but in the last two years McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee also has concentrated on Red hunting.

McClellan said that before he decides finally whether to propose a joint Senate-House committee, he intends to consult with Democratic congressional leaders.

Hardy Volunteers End 'Atom Survival' Test

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—A hardy band of volunteers returned to the warmth and comfort of normal living tonight after three days and two nights in the freezing open testing ways of survival after an atomic attack.

The 30 members of the group began a series of physical tests to help determine the effectiveness of special survival kits. These were all the party took, except for bedrolls, to the damp creek bottom near Spencerville, Md., where they camped out.

The 30 on the foray into the wilds were students and faculty of the college, which is run by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"Worst Wrecked Car" In Western Md.

Maryland State Police say this is one of the worst wrecked cars they ever saw. The rear end of the vehicle was disintegrated in a collision with another car at Breathedville. The driver, Charles M. Carter, Shepherdstown, W.Va., was killed. Clyde R. May, Lappans, Md., driver of the other car, was injured critically.

Demos Gained 16 'Marginal' Seats In Winning House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Nineteen of the 27 upsets in House races in Tuesday's congressional elections came from what the politicians call marginal districts.

These districts, in which incumbents often have to wait for the final vote tally to learn how they fared, were the battleground in the fight for control of the new House.

Democrats won control by the simple process of unseating 16 "marginal" Republicans while losing only three of their own "marginal" seats. The Democrats picked up six additional seats and the Republicans two from non-marginal areas.

Marginal areas generally are those which, in the preceding election, gave the winner a victory margin of 55 per cent or less of the total vote. Other factors, such as local issues or unusual conditions, can make a district "marginal" regardless of past election results.

On the basis of 1952 percentages, there were 85 marginal districts altogether, 40 held by Republicans and 45 by Democrats.

Of the 40 Republicans running in these districts, 24 won and 16 lost. Of the 45 Democrats 41 won and 4 lost.

Republican marginal districts which elected Republicans this year were: Arizona 1; California 4, 9, 13, 21; Connecticut 3; Indiana 3; Kentucky 3; Massachusetts 10; Nevada at-large; New Jersey 12; New York 5, 12; Ohio 3, 16; Pennsylvania 6, 10, 22; Utah 2; Virginia 6, 10; Washington 1, 2, 3.

GOP marginal districts where Republicans lost: Delaware at-large; Illinois 3; Indiana 8; Maryland 5; Massachusetts 8; Michigan 6, 17; Missouri 4, 6; Oregon 3; Pennsylvania 11, 19, 25; Virginia 9; West Virginia 4, and Wisconsin 5.

The three 1952 Democratic marginal seats picked up this year by Republicans were the California 6th, Florida 1st and Kansas 1st.

The 42 Democratic districts which elected candidates in 1952 by margins of 55 per cent or less of the total vote and elected Democrats again this year were: California 3, 14, 27; Colorado 1, 4; Connecticut 1; Idaho 1; Illinois 2, 9, 21; Kentucky 2; Maryland 4, 7; Massachusetts 2, 4; Michigan 14; Minnesota 3, 6; Missouri 8, 9, 11; Montana 1; New Jersey 4, 11, 14; New York 6, 7, 30; New Mexico 2 at-large; Ohio 6; North Carolina 9; Pennsylvania 5, 14, 15, 21; Rhode Island 1, 2; Washington, at-large; West Virginia 1, 2, 3.

Britain's Queen Mother Visits Annapolis Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain will spend five hours here tomorrow, visiting historic buildings, reviewing Naval Academy midshipmen and eating traditional Maryland food.

The queen mother and her party will arrive at Government House at 11:30 a.m. from Washington. She will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin for a party of 24.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Television and radio singer Joan Edwards suffered a nervous collapse yesterday in her Manhattan apartment, her husband said today.

Song Writer Makes Solo, Nonstop Flight To Paris

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Max Conrad, a latter-day Lindbergh and father of 10 children, landed a light two-engine plane near Paris today after a nonstop flight of 22 hours, 23 minutes from New York.

"I'm not tired," said the 49-year-old San Francisco song writer and veteran solo flier as he climbed happily from the cabin of a Piper Apache "I just need to relax a bit."

He nonchalantly bounced a grapefruit in his hand, all that was left of the slim provisions of toast, fruit and soft drinks with which he started out from New York's Idlewild Airport at 11:27 a.m. EST yesterday. He landed at Toussus le Noble Air Field near here at 9:50 a.m. EST. It was his fifth solo flight across the Atlantic, in a light plane, but his first nonstop.

Vicar To Charge "Confetti Fee"

WELLINGTON, England, Nov. 7 (AP)—The vicar of the nearby hamlet of High Ercall announced today he is going to charge an extra "confetti fee" for weddings in the future.

The Rev. William George Beale explained "the churchyard has been left in a disgraceful state after some weddings and it has caused a lot of inconvenience to our officials."

He promises a rebate if the confetti throwing is done outside the churchyard.

Rayburn, Morse Say Demos Won't Start 'Cold War'

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Two key members of the next Congress agreed today that the Democratic majorities in both houses will not start any "cold war" with the Republican administration.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), scheduled to be speaker of the newly-elected House of Representatives, said: "If there's any cold war, it'll be of somebody's making besides ours."

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore), who has announced he will vote with the 48 Democrats in organizing the Senate, said "there will be a cold war" if President Eisenhower carries out a campaign speech "threat."

Both legislators participated in a filmed television program. "I hope," said Morse, "that the President will not carry out his threat that he made in his Denver speech when in effect he said to the American people — if you exercise your precious right to vote on Nov. 2 by calling for a review of my program through the election of a Democratic majority, then there will be a cold war between the White House and the Congress."

"And of course if that develops it is the President that declares the war and I'm satisfied that the Congress will meet the declaration."

Typhoon Hits Luzon

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 8 (AP)—Typhoon winds of 150 miles an hour slammed into southeast Luzon Island last night but appeared likely to pass just north of Manila's 1,000,000 worried residents.

Dippel, a Democrat who has represented Baltimore's 3rd Legislative District in Annapolis the past four years, was the first candidate to announce. He did not seek reelection to the Legislature.

of four passengers. Some of this space had to be used to store extra gasoline. Special tanks holding 300 gallons fitted in place of the rear seats and 72-gallon wing tanks gave the craft a 25-hour range.

Hurrying indoors out of the light rain that greeted him, Conrad, formerly of Winona, Minn., sipped champagne while describing his flight as uneventful. He said the weather was generally good, adding:

"I ran into a belt of bad weather over the North Atlantic and had to go through some snow and ice. Most of the time I was without radio contact."

The flight was planned to deliver the plane to France from the United States by the cheapest method and not solely to conquer the Atlantic. Conrad also wanted to step up interest among young people in flying.

Mitchell And Hall Clash Over Nixon Campaign Tactics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The national chairmen of the two big parties tossed out angry post-election blasts today over what Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell called the Republicans' "calculated use of the smear as a campaign weapon."

Mitchell called on Vice President Nixon to "retract and apologize for his campaign excesses." If Nixon continues his attacks, the Democratic chairman said, "I hope that the President will take the opportunity to disassociate himself from such a character assassination by public disavowal."

Hall Returns Fire

Leonard W. Hall, the GOP chairman, countered with a charge that Mitchell was reviving "his pre-election vituperation" at a time when responsible leaders in Congress are pledging cooperation. "This is in the worst possible taste and in the worst possible public interest," Hall said in a statement replying to Mitchell's statement.

Mitchell said, "Republican leaders, led by Vice President Nixon, spread defamations from one end of the nation to the other during the closing days of the campaign, when it became clear that the Eisenhower record was not good enough to win the election."

Ike 'Must Set Example'

While he leveled most of his criticism at Nixon, the Republicans' most active campaigner, Mitchell said President Eisenhower must share responsibility for halting the practice.

"President Eisenhower is the leader of his party; he must set the example," Mitchell said.

Dippel Enters Race For Baltimore Mayor

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP)—With the results of last Tuesday's general election still not official, State Sen. Francis X. Dippel started a new campaign yesterday by announcing his candidacy for mayor of Baltimore.

Crew Of Photo Aircraft Bails Out; One Killed

RB29 Falls On Jap Island Of Hokkaido; State Dept. Protests

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 8 (AP)—A U.S. Air Force RB29 photo-mapping plane crashed yesterday on Hokkaido Island after it was fired upon by "two Russian-built MIG-type fighters," the Air Force said here today.

All 11 crew members of the four-engine plane bailed out. One died and the other 10 suffered minor injuries, the announcement said.

In Washington, the State Department said a protest had been sent to Moscow.

The Air Force said both attacking jets made two firing passes at the U.S. plane, "setting it afire." U.S. "crew members did not fire at the MIGs," the Air Force said.

The announcement did not say where the encounter took place. A report from Washington said it was on the east coast of Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island, near disputed territory claimed by Russia, and that the parachuting crewmen landed in the water.

Didn't Leave Jap Territory

A State Department spokesman said the RB29 did not at any time leave Japanese territory.

The Air Force said here 10 of the 11 crewmen landed on the ground and the eleventh "was found dead."

The Air Force said the RB29 was on a photo-mapping mission and crashed on Hokkaido 10 miles east of the town of Kenebetsu.

Its previous report listing 12 crewmen was incorrect, the Air Force said.

The 10 survivors were taken from the scene of the crash by Air Force truck and C47 to their home station at Yokota Air Force Base near Tokyo, where hospital authorities said they were "in excellent conditions." Their names were not disclosed.

U.S. Jet Crash Report Checked

An Air Force spokesman said in Tokyo the Washington report that the crewmen had landed in the water was incorrect, but that he had no information on how one man was killed.

The 10 survivors suffered only scratches and bruises, the spokesman said.

Far East Air Force headquarters said it had no information on Japanese press reports that an American jet fighter had crashed on Hokkaido shortly after the RB29 crashed, or that any jets went aloft in connection with the encounter with the MIGs.

These reports are being checked further, the Air Force spokesman said.

Headquarters did not have information on the exact spot where the RB29 was fired upon, the spokesman said.

Only a narrow strait separates the northeast tip of Hokkaido, where the RB29 crashed, from Russian-occupied islands. Hokkaido is about 350 miles east of the area where Soviet MIGs shot down a U.S. Navy Neptune plane Sept. 4.

Mothers Of Slain Girl, Killer Meet

NORWOOD, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP)—Two grief-stricken mothers embraced in a plain bedroom today and sobbed out promises to pray for each other's children—one slain, the other charged as the slayer.

Mrs. Adrienne Makarewicz knelt at the bedside of Mrs. Mary Anness and told her: "I'm sorry—so sorry." "I'm sorry for you, too," sobbed Mrs. Anness. "May God have mercy on your boy."

Peter Makarewicz, 15, is charged with the Thursday night slaying of Geraldine Anness, also 15, who lived across the vacant lot from his home. Dist. Atty. Myron G. Lane said the girl was strangled in a sex attack.

The painful meeting of the two mothers came in the bedroom of Mrs. Anness who has been confined to her room since her daughter's nude body was found in a garage in the rear of the Anness home.

Fumes From Hot Water Heater Kill 10 In Their Sleep

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Ten persons—a family of eight and another couple gathered to celebrate the christening of the youngest baby—were killed in their sleep early today by fumes from a faulty gas water heater.

The tiniest victim, a 4-month-old girl, was dressed in the pink baptismal dress that was to have been used in the church ceremony this morning.

Shocked city officials began an immediate investigation.

They said the water heater was faulty, the gas pressure was too high, and the appliance had been misused to heat the apartment.

Although two windows were partly open in the three-room tenement flat, one official said enough carbon monoxide had been formed to "kill off an entire squadron of men in half an hour."

The victims were Edubergs and Victoria Gonzales, in their late 20's, and their six children, ranging from 4 months to 10 years in age. Their guests were Domingo Matos, 31, and his wife, Armentina, 27.

The Matos' three young children were orphaned by the tragedy. Their parents had left them with relatives when they went to spend their last night with the Gonzales family.

Long before dawn today, another tenant in the building smelled smoke. Police and fire department men were called.

The tenant pushed open the door of the Gonzales flat and found the kitchen full of smoke and steam. The steam came from overheated water in the tank.

A mop lying under the heater had caught fire and was smoldering, adding to the noxious fumes.

The 10 persons who had gone to sleep a few hours before, happily looking forward to Sunday's christening and a party, were all lifeless in their beds. Efforts to revive them were useless.

Clue To Missing Plane?

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—A Navy plane patrolling choppy waters off the Atlantic Ocean reported late today it had sighted a small object about 70 miles northeast of the last known position of the Navy Superconstellation plane which disappeared eight days ago with 42 persons aboard.

A spokesman for the committee termed the book "just another propaganda device in the anti-baccos crusade which the author has been carrying on for years."

The research grants were announced by Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the committee which was formed earlier this year by manufacturers and organizations of tobacco growers and warehousemen.

The grants went to researchers connected with the University of Southern California; Stanford University; Temple University; Mt. Zion Hospital, San Francisco; the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond; and Columbia University.

Malenkov, U.S. Envoy Confer At Reception

Kremlin Talks Held During Celebration Of Red Revolution

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov held an animated conversation in the full glare of a big Kremlin party celebrating the 37th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution tonight.

For a solid hour, too, diplomats, newsmen and their women guests gaped with curiosity as first Communist party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and then Malenkov held a similarly vigorous talk with Yugoslav Ambassador Dobrovic Vidic.

Talks Overshadow Parade

These talks completely overshadowed the traditional military parade in Red Square. This time the parade was short, the massed display of civilian marchers greatly curtailed and the usual air show canceled because of bad weather.

Though the reviewing officer, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, speaking from the top of the Lenin-Stalin tomb, declared Russia must build her armed forces to a new peak of modern efficiency because of the activities of "warmongers," his speech was mild in that it hurled none of the usual barbs at the United States.

Then followed the talks at the Kremlin party given by smiling Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for 2,000 guests at which Bohlen and Malenkov sat down at the same board together for the first time.

Bohlen later refused to tell newsmen what was talked about. He said "no business was transacted."

But some optimists among the staring diplomats present said it might lead to high level conferences among Malenkov, President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Churchill.

M'Clellan Weighs Joint Red Probe Committee Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today he is considering introduction in the new Congress next January of a resolution to set up a Senate-House committee to handle all Red hunting probes.

It would have exclusive jurisdiction in this field, displacing the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

McClellan told an interviewer that he felt one joint committee would eliminate duplication and be more efficient.

The Democratic election victory last Tuesday has put McClellan in line to succeed McCarthy as chairman of the investigations subcommittee in the next Congress. He is also a member of the Internal Security subcommittee, now headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.).

The Internal Security unit was set up late in 1950 as the Senate's chief Communist investigating committee, but in the last two years McCarthy's Investigations subcommittee also has concentrated on Red hunting.

McClellan said that before he decides finally whether to propose a joint Senate-House committee, he intends to consult with Democratic congressional leaders.

Hardy Volunteers End 'Atom Survival' Test

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—A hardy band of volunteers returned to the warmth and comfort of normal living tonight after three days and two nights in the freezing open testing ways of survival after an atomic attack.

The 30 members of the group began a series of physical tests to help determine the effectiveness of special survival kits. These were all the party took, except for bedrolls, to the damp creek bottom near Spencerville, Md., where they camped out.

The 30 on the foray into the wilds were students and faculty of the college, which is run by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

"Worst Wrecked Car" In Western Md.

Maryland State Police say this is one of the worst wrecked cars they ever saw. The rear end of the vehicle was disintegrated in a collision with another car at Breathedville. The driver, Charles M. Carter, Shepherdstown, W.Va., was killed. Clyde R. May, Lappans, Md., driver of the other car, was injured critically.

Demos Gained 16 'Marginal' Seats In Winning House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Nineteen of the 27 upsets in House races in Tuesday's congressional election came from what the politicians call marginal districts.

These districts, in which incumbents often have to wait for the final vote tally to learn how they fared, were the battleground in the fight for control of the new House.

Democrats won control by the simple process of unseating 16 "marginal" Republicans while losing only three of their own "marginal" seats. The Democrats picked up six additional seats and the Republicans two from non-marginal areas.

Marginal areas generally are those which, in the preceding election, gave the winner a victory margin of 55 per cent or less of the total vote. Other factors, such as local issues or unusual conditions, can make a district "marginal" regardless of past election results.

85 Marginal Districts

On the basis of 1952 percentages, there were 85 marginal districts altogether, 40 held by Republicans and 45 by Democrats.

Of the 40 Republicans running in these districts, 24 won and 16 lost. Of the 45 Democrats 41 won and 4 lost.

Republican marginal districts which elected Republicans this year were:

Arizona 1; California 4, 9, 13, 21; Connecticut 3; Indiana 3; Kentucky 3; Massachusetts 10; Nevada at-large; New Jersey 12; New York 5, 12; Ohio 3, 16; Pennsylvania 6, 10, 22; Utah 2; Virginia 6, 10; Washington 1, 2, 3.

GOP marginal districts where Republicans lost:

Delaware at-large; Illinois 3; Indiana 8; Maryland 5; Massachusetts 8; Michigan 6, 17; Missouri 4, 6; Oregon 3; Pennsylvania 11, 19, 25; Virginia 9; West Virginia 4, and Wisconsin 5.

GOP Gained Three Seats

The three 1952 Democratic marginal seats picked up this year by Republicans were the California 6th, Florida 1st and Kansas 1st.

The 42 Democratic districts which elected candidates in 1952 by margins of 55 per cent or less of the total vote and elected Democrats again this year were:

California 3, 14, 27; Colorado 1; Connecticut 1; Idaho 1; Illinois 2, 9, 21; Kentucky 2; Maryland 4, 7; Massachusetts 2, 4; Michigan 11; Minnesota 3, 6; Missouri 8, 9, 11; Montana 1; New Jersey 4, 11, 14; New York 6, 7, 30; New Mexico 2 at-large; Ohio 6; North Carolina 9; Pennsylvania 5, 14, 15, 21; Rhode Island 1, 2; Washington, at-large; West Virginia 1, 2, 3.

Britain's Queen Mother Visits Annapolis Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain will spend five hours here tomorrow, visiting historic buildings, reviewing Naval Academy midshipmen and eating traditional Maryland food.

The queen mother and her party will arrive at Government House at 11:30 a.m. from Washington. She will be the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Gov. and Mrs. McKeldin for a party of 24.

TV Singer Collapses

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Television and radio singer Joan Edwards suffered a nervous collapse yesterday in her Manhattan apartment, her husband said today.

Vicar To Charge "Confetti Fee"

WELLINGTON, England, Nov. 7 (AP)—The vicar of the nearby hamlet of High Ercall announced today he is going to charge an extra "confetti fee" for weddings in the future.

The Rev. William George Beale explained "the churchyard has been left in a disgraceful state after some weddings and it has caused a lot of inconvenience to our officials."

He promises a rebate if the confetti throwing is done outside the churchyard.

Rayburn, Morse Say Demos Won't Start 'Cold War'

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Two key members of the next Congress agreed today that the Democratic majorities in both houses will not start any "cold war" with the Republican administration.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), scheduled to be speaker of the newly-elected House of Representatives, said: "If there's any cold war, it'll be of somebody's making besides ours."

Sen. Wayne Morse (Ind-Ore), who has announced he will vote with the 48 Democrats in organizing the Senate, said "there will be a cold war" if President Eisenhower carries out a campaign speech "threat."

Both legislators participated in a filmed television program. "I hope," said Morse, "that the President will not carry out his threat that he made in his Denver speech when in effect he said to the American people—if you exercise your precious right to vote on Nov. 2 by calling for a review of my program through the election of a Democratic majority, then there will be a cold war between the White House and the Congress."

"And of course if that develops it is the President that declares the war and I'm satisfied that the Congress will meet the declaration."

Typhoon Hits Luzon

MANILA, Monday, Nov. 8 (AP)—Typhoon winds of 150 miles an hour slammed into southeast Luzon Island last night but appeared likely to pass just north of Manila's 1,000,000 worried residents.

Song Writer Makes Solo, Nonstop Flight To Paris

PARIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Max Conrad, a latter-day Lindbergh and father of 10 children, landed a light two-engine plane near Paris today after a nonstop flight of 22 hours, 23 minutes from New York.

"I'm not tired," said the 49-year-old San Francisco song writer and veteran solo flier as he climbed happily from the cabin of a Piper Apache "I just need to relax a bit."

He nonchalantly bounced a grapefruit in his hand, all that was left of the slim provisions of toast, fruit and soft drinks with which he started out from New York's Idlewild Airport at 11:27 a.m. EST yesterday. He landed at Toussus le Noble Air Field near here at 9:50 a.m. EST. It was his fifth solo flight across the Atlantic, in a light plane, but his first nonstop.

The plane has a normal capacity of four passengers. Some of this space had to be used to store extra gasoline. Special tanks holding 300 gallons fitted in place of the rear seats and 72-gallon wing tanks gave the craft a 25-hour range.

Hurrying indoors out of the light rain that greeted him, Conrad, formerly of Winona, Minn., sipped champagne while describing his flight as uneventful. He said the weather was generally good, adding:

"I ran into a belt of bad weather over the North Atlantic and had to go through some snow and ice. Most of the time I was without radio contact."

The flight was planned to deliver the plane to France from the United States by the cheapest method and not solely to conquer the Atlantic. Conrad also wanted to step up interest among young people in flying.

Crew Of Photo Aircraft Bails Out; One Killed

RB29 Falls On Jap Island Of Hokkaido; State Dept. Protests

TOKYO, Monday, Nov. 8 (AP)—A U.S. Air Force RB29 photo-mapping plane crashed yesterday on Hokkaido Island after it was fired upon by "two Russian-built MIG-type fighters," the Air Force said here today.

All 11 crew members of the four-engine plane bailed out. One died and the other 10 suffered minor injuries, the announcement said.

In Washington, the State Department said a protest had been sent to Moscow.

The Air Force said both attacking jets made two firing passes at the U.S. plane, "setting it afire." U.S. "crew members did not fire at the MIGs," the Air Force said.

The announcement did not say where the encounter took place.

A report from Washington said it was on the east coast of Hokkaido, the northernmost Japanese island, near disputed territory claimed by Russia, and that the parachuting crewmen landed in the water.

Didn't Leave Jap Territory

A State Department spokesman said the RB29 did not at any time leave Japanese territory.

The Air Force said here 10 of the 11 crewmen landed on the ground and the eleventh "was found dead."

The Air Force said the RB29 was on a photo-mapping mission and crashed on Hokkaido 10 miles east of the town of Kenebetsu.

Its previous report listing 12 crewmen was incorrect, the Air Force said.

The 10 survivors were taken from the scene of the crash by Air Force truck and C47 to their home station at Yokota Air Force Base near Tokyo, where hospital authorities said they were "in excellent conditions." Their names were not disclosed.

U.S. Jet Crash Report Checked

An Air Force spokesman said in Tokyo the Washington report that the crewmen had landed in the water was incorrect, but that he had no information on how one man was killed.

The 10 survivors suffered only scratches and bruises, the spokesman said.

Far East Air Force headquarters said it had no information on Japanese press reports that an American jet fighter had crashed on Hokkaido shortly after the RB29 crashed, or that any jets went aloft in connection with the encounter with the MIGs.

These reports are being checked further, the Air Force spokesman said.

Headquarters did not have information on the exact spot where the RB29 was fired upon, the spokesman said.

Only a narrow strait separates the northeast tip of Hokkaido, where the RB29 crashed, from Russian-occupied islands. Hokkaido is about 350 miles east of the area where Soviet MIGs shot down a U.S. Navy Neptune plane Sept. 4.

Mothers Of Slain Girl, Killer Meet

NORWOOD, Mass., Nov. 7 (AP)—Two grief-stricken mothers embraced in a plain bedroom today and sobbed out promises to pray for each other's children—one a slayer, the other charged as the slayer.

Mrs. Adrienne Makarewicz knelt at the bedside of Mrs. Mary Anness and told her:

"I'm sorry—so sorry." "I'm sorry for you too," sobbed Mrs. Anness. "May God have mercy on your boy."

Peter Makarewicz, 15, is charged with the Thursday night slaying of Geraldine Anness, also 15, who lived across the vacant lot from his home. Dist. Atty. Myron G. Lane said the girl was strangled in a sex attack.

The painful meeting of the two mothers came in the bedroom of Mrs. Anness who has been confined to her room since her daughter's nude body was found in a garage in the rear of the Anness home.

Italian Nun Beatified

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—Maria Assunta Pallotta, an Italian nun who was a member of the Franciscan Missionaries of Mary, was beatified today at St. Peter's Basilica.

A papal decree bestowed upon her the second highest honor of the Roman Catholic Church, a step which may lead to sainthood.

Bishop Hodges Confirms 70 In Keyser Rites

Attends Banquet In Westernport

KEYSER — The sacrament of confirmation was administered Sunday at 4 p. m., by Rev. Joseph Hodges, D. D., auxiliary bishop of Richmond, to approximately 70 youth and adults in the Catholic Church of the Assumption, Keyser.

Rev. Kenneth Rizer, pastor of the church, assisted in the ceremony. Following confirmation, the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given. Those receiving confirmation included residents of Keyser, Piedmont, Kitzmiller, Romney and Kessel.

The bishop also was celebrating at the 10 o'clock high mass Sunday morning. The bishop is a native of West Virginia, having been born in Harpers Ferry, son of the late Dr. J. Howard Hodges, who was a medical doctor for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. He attended St. Patrick's School in Cumberland and later in Martinsburg, where his mother now resides. He was ordained in Rome and was consecrated auxiliary bishop of Richmond two years ago.

Last night Bishop Hodges together with Rev. Kenneth Rizer and Rev. Henry Stragisler, of the Keyser church and other Catholic clergy, were guests at the 52nd anniversary banquet of Piedmont Council, No. 685, Knights of Columbus in St. Peter's Hall in Westernport.

Other guests at the banquet were Rev. George Pugh, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church; Rev. Msgr. A. Scarpati, P. A., pastor of that church; Rev. Charles Quinn, assistant pastor, and Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Ridgeley.

Church Women Observe World Community Day

Offering Goes For "Packets For Peace"

FROSTBURG — A World Community Day program was held Friday evening in the Educational Building of the First Methodist Church. The meeting was sponsored by the Frostburg Council of Church Women.

Mrs. John Ives and Mrs. Paul V. Taylor were co-chairmen for the program. Mrs. John Cook presided. The program opened with the group singing "O Gracious Father of Mankind," with prayer by Rev. Wm. J. Yingling. Mrs. George Griffith sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," accompanied by Mrs. John Ives.

The offering received will go toward "Packets For Peace."

Dr. Paul V. Taylor, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, delivered the message. He spoke of his experiences in China as a missionary and stressed the need of sturdy simple clothing and materials to be sent in any packets to refugee countries. He stated the missionaries use the materials at hand and pray for help and guidance in aiding the destitute.

Mrs. Allan Hager explained that the packets presented at the meeting will be sent to homeless children and families in countries ravaged by war.

The program closed with prayer by Mrs. Thomas McMorran, song, "In Christ There Is No East or West," and benediction Rev. John B. Jones.

Bishop Hodges Confirms 70 In Keyser Rites

Attends Banquet In Westernport

KEYSER — The sacrament of confirmation was administered Sunday at 4 p. m., by Rev. Joseph Hodges, D. D., auxiliary bishop of Richmond, to approximately 70 youth and adults in the Catholic Church of the Assumption, Keyser.

Rev. Kenneth Rizer, pastor of the church, assisted in the ceremony. Following confirmation, the Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was given. Those receiving confirmation included residents of Keyser, Piedmont, Kitzmiller, Romney and Kessel.

The bishop also was celebrating at the 10 o'clock high mass Sunday morning. The bishop is a native of West Virginia, having been born in Harpers Ferry, son of the late Dr. J. Howard Hodges, who was a medical doctor for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. He attended St. Patrick's School in Cumberland and later in Martinsburg, where his mother now resides. He was ordained in Rome and was consecrated auxiliary bishop of Richmond two years ago.

Last night Bishop Hodges together with Rev. Kenneth Rizer and Rev. Henry Stragisler, of the Keyser church and other Catholic clergy, were guests at the 52nd anniversary banquet of Piedmont Council No. 685, Knights of Columbus in St. Peter's Hall in Westernport.

Other guests at the banquet were Rev. George Pugh, assistant pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church; Rev. Msgr. A. Scarpati, P. A., pastor of that church; Rev. Charles Quinn, assistant pastor, and Rev. Robert Kigannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Church, Ridgeley.

Church Women Observe World Community Day

Offering Goes For "Packets For Peace"

FROSTBURG — A World Community Day program was held Friday evening in the Educational Building of the First Methodist Church. The meeting was sponsored by the Frostburg Council of Church Women.

Mrs. John Ives and Mrs. Paul V. Taylor were co-chairmen for the program. Mrs. John Cook presided. The program opened with the group singing "O Gracious Father of Mankind," with prayer by Rev. Wm. J. Yingling. Mrs. George Griffith sang "The Lord Is My Shepherd," accompanied by Mrs. John Ives.

The offering received will go toward "Packets For Peace."

Dr. Paul V. Taylor, pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, delivered the message. He spoke of his experiences in China as a missionary and stressed the need of sturdy simple clothing and materials to be sent in any packets to refugee countries. He stated the missionaries use the materials at hand and pray for help and guidance in aiding the destitute.

Mrs. Allan Hager explained that the packets presented at the meeting will be sent to homeless children and families in countries ravaged by war.

The program closed with prayer by Mrs. Thomas McMorran, song, "In Christ There Is No East or West," and benediction by Rev. John B. Jones.

Barton WSCS Plans Turkey Supper

BARTON — The Woman's Society of Christian Service has completed plans for a turkey supper which will be held at the new Fire Hall from 5 until 7 p. m. Thursday, according to Mrs. Leda Kimble.

Plans also have been made to hold the Christmas party on the regular meeting night, December 2. Each member will bring a towel or wash cloth to be packed in a Christmas box for the needy.

"New Nations Shall Turn To The Lord" was the devotional topic at the meeting last week. The program was led by Mrs. Leona Metz. Mrs. Elsie C. Keyes reported at the business meeting that $11 was received at the Week of Prayer and self denial program. Mrs. Bern Clark reported that 49 gallons of apple butter has been made and sold.

Accident Claim Cases Are Heard

A precedent-setting case was heard last week in Allegany County Court House before the State Industrial Accident Commission — that of a woman who claims an accident in her work in a country club kitchen caused her to suffer injuries forcing a stillbirth.

The case of Mrs. Susan Wasilowski against the All Ghan Shrine Country Club, Inc., and the Century Indemnity Company, was heard by Simon F. Reilly, commissioner on the State Industrial Accident Commission.

Mrs. Wasilowski, in seeking compensation, claimed through her attorneys, Peter J. Carpentieri and Harry Kauffman, that at 3:30 p. m. on July 9 in the club kitchen she was lifting a pot of potatoes when she bumped herself against the stove.

She testified that she had a partial miscarriage later that day, and a complete miscarriage in a local hospital early the following day.

She alleged that, as a result of the accident, she has suffered back injuries and has other ailments.

Local attorneys who have had many cases before the commission report that this is the first in their recollection involving such a premature birth as a result of an accident at a place of employment.

Other cases heard by the commission Friday were titled: Russell B. Whitlock against the Housing Authority of Cumberland and the Indemnity Insurance Company.

Kenneth F. Riley against the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

William H. Raines against the W. W. Coal Company.

Gene White against Feldstein Iron and Metal Company.

Walter Martin against Wilbert F. Gordon.

Ralph H. Pape against the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

James Mauck against Turner's Transfer Company.

Mrs. William Gibbs Smith vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary, will assist Mrs. Lucas in her presentation.

The meeting at Saint Philip's will be at 7:30 p. m. and at Holy Cross at 8:30 p. m.

Man Sentenced In Morals Case

A 54-year-old Western Maryland Railway employee was sentenced Saturday in Juvenile Court to one year in the Maryland House of Correction on two charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The defendant, John Marshall Powell, Westernport, entered a plea of guilty through his attorney and was given two six-month sentences. The terms will run consecutively.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilly said the charges involved 25 youths, one of whom was placed on probation. No action was taken against the others.

Farm Census Begins Today

Field work in the 1954 Census of Agriculture gets underway today when a force of enumerators will start visiting every farm in the area, according to Field Supervisor R. L. Snodgrass of Baltimore.

Farm census questionnaires have been mailed to all farm operators. The enumerators will visit all farms in the Cumberland area to collect the questionnaires and, if necessary, assist the farmer in filling out the report form.

The 1954 Census of Agriculture is the 16th in a series of nationwide farm enumerations, the first of which was conducted in 1840. The Census of Agriculture is taken at five-year intervals to provide up to date statistical information about more than five million farms which supply food and raw materials for manufacture of goods used by the people of the United States, now numbering about 162.5 million. The current census will yield information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities and equipment and selected farm expenditures.

WHY YOU GO BALD DEMONSTRATED BY HAIR EXPERT HERE TOMORROW

One of the most common causes of hair loss, the blocked follicle, is explained to a balding man by trichologist G. S. Bishop. Bishop's organization is sending a specialist here to advise men how to correct hair troubles by home treatment.

Where you're growing fuzz you can usually grow real hair, trichologist says . . .

CINCINNATI, Ohio.—New home treatment methods for growing thicker hair—and preventing baldness—will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Md., this Tuesday, November 9. Trichologist J. M. Coyle, of the famous Bishop Hair Experts organization, will be in charge. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Examine You Free In making the announcement at the home office of Bishop Hair Experts, Director G. S. Bishop said:

"I want to make it clear that you incur no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination. Your only obligation is to yourself—to ease your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your case is beyond the scope of Bishop home treatment, Mr. Coyle will tell you so. But less than five per cent of the people we examine are 'hopeless'."

Offers No Cure-All His method of home treatment, Bishop said, should not be confused with "mail order courses."

"We always make a personal examination before suggesting treatment," he said. "There is no cure-all for every scalp disorder. Each of the 18 disorders that cause most baldness requires a special treatment."

Bishop says that sometimes your treatment must be changed after a few weeks to get best results. "For this reason, you mail regular reports of your hair progress to the nearest Bishop office."

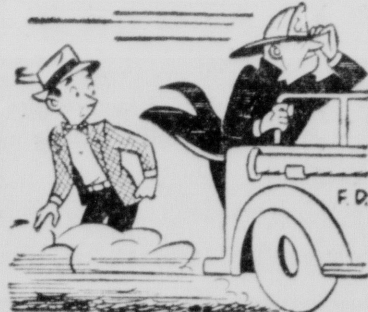

"Also, your scalp condition is checked personally by a Bishop trichologist at regular intervals."

Satisfy 90% Does Bishop grow hair? Best evidence that he does is that his organization expanded quickly from one office to 14 affiliated offices in North America: Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Miami, Tampa, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, San Francisco, Montreal, Mexico City. And in addition to these permanent offices, their staff trichologists regularly do extension work in many other cities. "Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do," declares Bishop. "We satisfy more than 90 per cent of our clients."

Guarantee Satisfaction "To overcome the average man's skepticism, we now offer a 30-DAY GUARANTEE," Bishop says. "You must be satisfied with results by the end of 30 days or your money will be refunded."

If you're worried about your hair, call the Fort Cumberland Hotel tomorrow for Mr. Coyle's suite number, then come see him between 2 and 9 p.m. for a free examination. You don't need an appointment. You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way.

doing what we claim to do," declares Bishop. We satisfy more than 90 per cent of our clients.

"But overcoming the average man's initial skepticism is really hard. He's usually quite desperate—and definitely baldish—by the time he nerves himself to consult a Bishop trichologist. All the time he's losing hair, he justifies his neglect with one of the old superstitions about hair: That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss."

"What's worse, all the time he's losing hair, he keeps right on with the bad habits of hair care that cause him to lose hair."

Guarantee Satisfaction

"To overcome the average man's skepticism, we now offer a 30-DAY GUARANTEE," Bishop says. "You must be satisfied with results by the end of 30 days or your money will be refunded."

If you're worried about your hair, call the Fort Cumberland Hotel tomorrow for Mr. Coyle's suite number, then come see him between 2 and 9 p. m. for a free examination.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7—(INS)—One hundred thousand dollars—were you listening?—was plunked down by Darryl Zanuck for Hamilton Basso's new novel, "The View From Pompey's Head." Basso at one time was a dramatic critic for the New Yorker magazine.

"It's a terrible title," Darryl said, "but the rave notices of the book and the distinguished manner of writing makes this much more than an average suspense story."

Bossman Zanuck has sent word to Gregory Peck that he'd like him for the top role, and since Greg owes 20th a picture, or pictures, it probably can be arranged.

Las Vegas gets its Mocambo! Charlie Morrison, Boniface of Hollywood's internationally known Mocambo Cafe, registered the name "Charlie Morrison's Mocambo" with the secretary of state in Nevada, and this is the story:

Morrison and George Woods, of the William Morris office, are just back from New York where a deal was closed to build a small, plush hotel, bungalow style, which Charlie says "will be the best, not the biggest."

It may well be the fanciest what with Pereira and Luckman commissioned to do the architecture and Don Loper the decorating.

No matter how hard Betty Hutton has begged, Charlie O'Curran has refused to sign their divorce papers which would make it possible for her to establish residence in Las Vegas while she's there. Another thing I've just heard about Charlie is that he turned down $1,250 a week to stage the attractions at the New Riviera Hotel in Vegas. He told the disappointed William Morris Company that he didn't want to be tied down on any one project.

Recently at a party Charlie gave at his apartment, Gloria De Haven and Martin Kimmel got together, and from someone who was there it looks like a reconciliation.

Chatter in Hollywood:

I can tell you that the romance between Grace Kelly and Oleg Cassini is cooling, cooling, cooling. It's a matter of religious difference, and Grace will never marry outside of her church. Cassini is a divorced man, and in addition belongs to the Greek Catholic Church, which is entirely different from Grace's Roman Catholic faith. Her family has said a big no, and Grace is listening.

I also believe Grace will not accept "Cobweb," the picture she was set to make at MGM. The script is not right and unless it can be changed it may never be made. This has always been a difficult story to lick.

Carole Lou Costello, the Lou Costellos' sweet 16, had her birthday party last week. Her birthday is really Dec. 23 but she's sick and tired of being cheated out of presents—too near Christmas. She has invited her Marymount High School classmates and their escorts.

Carole is movie-crazy and her dad has given her a role as an Egyptian dancer in his current film "Abbott and Costello in the Mummy." She's also appeared on Bud and Lou's TV show.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Peter Lawford's bride, the former Patricia Kennedy, is in New York to see her brother, Jack Kennedy, who recently underwent surgery. Pete took his mother to Romanoff's to celebrate Lady Lawford's birthday and later he'll fly east to join Pat.

Barbara Ruick, I hear, has once again moved back with her mother, Lurene Tuttle, radio actress, but this happens regularly and then she kisses and makes up with Bob Weston.

Mae West has bought the Santa

Monica home of Frank Fishman, boss of the New Royal Riviera at Las Vegas.

Bill Lyon gets the happy job of chaperoning Miss Liz Taylor when she goes to New York to do a job for MGM on "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Linda Darnell's bridegroom, Phillip Liebmann, is back in Hollywood on business connected with his brewery. Linda joins him here later—she's in New York. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—(INS)—One hundred thousand dollars—were you listening?—was plunked down by Darryl Zanuck for Hamilton Basso's new novel, "The View From Pompey's Head." Basso at one time was a dramatic critic for the New Yorker magazine.

"It's a terrible title," Darryl said, "but the rave notices of the book and the distinguished manner of writing makes this much more than an average suspense story."

Bossman Zanuck has sent word to Gregory Peck that he'd like him for the top role, and since Greg owes 20th a picture, or pictures, it probably can be arranged.

Las Vegas gets its Mocambo! Charlie Morrison, Boniface of in Las Vegas while she's there. Another thing I've just heard about Charlie is that he turned down $1,250 a week to stage the attractions at the New Riviera Hotel in Vegas. He told the disappointed William Morris Company that he didn't want to be tied down on any one project.

Recently at a party Charlie gave at his apartment, Gloria De Haven and Martin Kimmel got together, and from someone who was there it looks like a reconciliation.

Chatter in Hollywood: I can tell you that the romance between Grace Kelly and Oleg Cassini is cooling, cooling, cooling. It's a matter of religious difference, and Grace will never marry outside of her church. Cassini is a divorced man, and in addition belongs to the Greek Catholic Church, which is entirely different from Grace's Roman Catholic faith. Her family has said a big no, and Grace is listening.

I also believe Grace will not accept "Cobweb," the picture she was set to make at MGM. The script is not right and unless it can be changed it may never be made. This has always been a difficult story to lick.

Carole Lou Costello, the Lou Costellos' sweet 16, had her birthday party last week. Her birthday is really Dec. 23 but she's sick and tired of being cheated out of presents—too near Christmas. She has invited her Marymount High School classmates and their escorts.

Carole is movie-crazy and her dad has given her a role as an Egyptian dancer in his current film "Abbott and Costello in the Mummy." She's also appeared on Bud and Lou's TV show.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Peter Lawford's bride, the former Patricia Kennedy, is in New York to see her brother, Jack Kennedy, who recently underwent surgery. Pete took his mother to Romanoff's to celebrate Lady Lawford's birthday and later he'll fly east to join Pat.

Barbara Ruick, I hear, has once again moved back with her mother, Lurene Tuttle, radio actress, but this happens regularly and then she kisses and makes up with Bob Horton.

Mae West has bought the Santa Monica home of Frank Fishman, boss of the New Royal Riviera at Las Vegas.

Bill Lyon gets the happy job of chaperoning Miss Liz Taylor when she goes to New York to do a job for MGM on "The Last Time I Saw Paris."

Linda Darnell's bridegroom, Phillip Liebmann, is back in Hollywood on business connected with his brewery. Linda joins him here later—she's in New York. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Blow To Britain's Aircraft Industry

To the British aircraft industry, it must seem that it never rains but it pours. British pride suffered the worst blow to date in the postwar race for world air transport supremacy in an agreement reached between the British Overseas Aircraft Corporation and Douglas Aircraft, one of this country's two top air transport manufacturers. Ignoring its own producers, BOAC has contracted for a fleet of DC-7Ds, the newest plane this country is producing in quantity for fast, long distance, passenger transportation.

Two years ago the British were riding high in world air transport circles. Their Comets were zipping from London to Singapore and to South Africa, piling up a huge backlog of mileage and experience. Then the blow fell. There were two Comet tragedies, then a lull. Then two more exploded in the air over the Mediterranean within weeks of each other with a loss of all aboard. It has since been established that structural weaknesses in the main cabin caused the explosions as the pressurized ships reached high altitudes.

The Comets were, of course, grounded, and work on the improved Comet III was suspended while further tests were made. BOAC had had fond hopes of disposing of its piston-engined American-built Constellations and DC-6s for new British jet transports. Instead, the replacements are also coming from America.

However, BOAC is purchasing only the frames, and will have British turbo-prop engines installed, which will give the BOAC planes at least a speed advantage. With piston engines the planes will fly better than 4,000 miles non-stop at 380 miles per hour. Meanwhile both countries are watching the Boeing all-jet transport which is now undergoing flight tests.

Starting with a long handicap, the United States is now on the verge of taking over the air transport field. Perhaps the next planes BOAC buys may be American jets.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

There Was No Trend

As the election figures are studied, no trend is found, no unmistakable public response to any great party pronouncements or a public challenge to party officials. It is impossible to say that the election was pro- or anti-Eisenhower. The narrow margins are convincing that the Republicans might have managed to win hands down had they not, with characteristic ineptitude, embroiled themselves in intra-party conflicts in several states. On that, of course, there will be wide disagreement both as to cause and effect and one can let the subject pass without too much concern at this time.

The question is of the future. President Eisenhower continues to speak of the moderate approach to public problems which describes inadequately what that approach is. Who desires an immoderate approach and what is the nature of it? Until we know the extremes, it is impossible ever to know where the middle is. In Roosevelt's time, the phrase used to be "left of center," with the center undefined. Perhaps the reason for this queer election is that no one can truly state what anyone believes to be the truth.

During the campaign, when it was generally held that the Democrats, supported by organized labor, would win an enormous victory, it was often suggested that President Eisenhower would declare himself as a one-term president, that he would not run in 1956. No authority was ever cited for such a statement, but it was, from a political standpoint, a confusing one, because if it becomes generally believed, it can increase the conflicts within the Republican party by stimulating too many ambitions. It is true that President Eisenhower has made no public pronouncement on the subject.

It is customary in the United States for a president to run for two terms, even if he is not always elected to the second term. President Eisenhower is entitled to a second chance in 1956 and it ought to be understood that he will take it. If that is now iterated, Republican aspirants will have to step back to await their opportunity. No one in the Republican party comes out of this election so greatly confirmed by the American people as to be an outstanding contestant for President Eisenhower's post. There still is no successor in party leadership to Senator Robert A. Taft.

In the Democratic party, no one has created for himself so great a reputation as to be outstanding. While Adlai Stevenson assumed active leadership in the campaign, making speeches almost daily all over the country, the result of the election is not sufficient to establish that his participation in the campaign made much difference. No other Democratic personality emerged as an astonishing figure, except J. Strom Thurmond, whose write-in victory was surprising to the country, but which undoubtedly was the result of special local conditions in South Carolina with which other parts of the country are not familiar. Averell Harriman, whom friends before election day were grooming for the presidential nomination, received too narrow a majority to be regarded as significant from a national standpoint. He may now even have difficulty in controlling the New York delegation to the next Democratic convention.

The elimination of Thomas E. Dewey as a political leader in New York cannot be ignored. Three times elected as governor, twice a candidate for president, organizer of the nomination of Dwight Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican convention, Dewey could not carry his chosen successor, Irving Ives, to victory. The narrowness of the Harriman vote indicates that Ives could have won were there not a protest refusal to vote in the election by enough Republicans to make a difference. The defeat of Ives makes Jacob Javits, the attorney general, the leader of his party in the state. Javits is closely connected with the Liberal party and therefore he is likely to continue to be opposed by conservative Republicans.

In the New York situation, where men do unfortunately vote along religious and racial lines, in recent elections a tendency has appeared to substitute an Italian Catholic for an Irish Catholic in both parties. An analysis of election districts would indicate that the Irish Catholic Democrats have reasserted their strength by rejecting Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for attorney general. He lost in strictly Democratic districts to Jacob Javits, a Republican with Liberal party leanings, who is a Jew. This unusual result was anticipated by nobody.

Jack The Giant Killer

Stevenson As Well As Eisenhower Helped By Election

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
Oddly enough, although the election has certainly been a political net plus for President Eisenhower, it has probably also been a net plus for his old rival, Adlai Stevenson. This, at least, is the majority view among Stevenson's fellow Democrats.

If you look at the election results from a special, Stevensonian angle of vision, you can see why. The elections did not go nearly as well for the Democrats as they had expected. But they went surprisingly well for Stevenson nonetheless.

In the first place, Sen. Paul Douglas, from Stevenson's home state of Illinois, was re-elected by a healthy majority. It is no secret that the relationship between the two men has not always been exactly chummy. But this year, things were patched up, and Douglas and Stevenson did a Damon and Pythias act on the Illinois hustings. Stevenson went all out for Douglas, and Douglas, in introducing him, stopped just short of calling Stevenson "your next president."

Eisenhower gave Douglas's opponent, Joe Meek, his blessing. If the amiable but unimpressive Meek had beaten Douglas, this would have been interpreted universally as final proof that Stevenson was no match for Eisenhower. But instead, Stevenson's bet on Douglas paid off handsomely.

Stevenson-Minded Governors

What is more, where the Democratic performance almost lived up to Democratic hopes—in the governorship races—Stevenson did particularly well. The majority of the new Democratic governors, if not all-out Stevenson men, are at the very least decidedly Stevenson-minded.

This is particularly true of Muskie in Maine, Freeman in Minnesota, Leader in Pennsylvania, Ribicoff in Connecticut, and, last but not least, Harriman in New York. Harriman's victory gives him a ballot claim in 1956. But almost his first words after being elected were, "I'm for Stevenson."

Add that ex-President Truman, on the day after the election, for the first time came out flatly for Stevenson in 1956. A row between Truman and Stevenson, who have had their differences in the past, has been the great white hope of the large but ill-organized anti-Stevenson underground in the Democratic party.

It was hoped, for example, that such a row might start over the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee, the key party post soon to be vacated by Stevenson's man, Stephen Mitchell. The candidate of the southerners and conservatives in the anti-Stevenson underground was Sen. Earle Clements of Kentucky.

But now Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, anathema to regular Democrats because of his apostasy in 1952, has bestowed what is probably the kiss of death on Clements by coming out strong for him.

There appears to be a good chance that a compromise choice will be found in James Finnegan, an able Democratic politician from Philadelphia, who is believed acceptable to both the Truman and Stevenson forces. Thus there appears very little likelihood of a Truman-Stevenson row.

What, then, short of his falling down an empty elevator shaft, can beat Stevenson? The answer appears to be, "Stevenson."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

With the elections behind the towel rack we will conduct a class in slightly used history.

What were those things Adlai Stevenson was gandering in Maine and so goes Arizona?

We know he called them ground swells. Which is possible but not indicative of any decided trend. The first ground swell Adlai saw was in Maine. Which could use one.

Then he saw one in Illinois. Just enough to keep it out of Lake Michigan.

That one in Arizona could have been the Rockies. They're not exactly sponge-like but the state has a terrific amount of yeast in its geography.

What is a ground swell on a well-trapped fairway? It is mostly a maritime gimmick off the Grand Banks. Caused by distant storms elbowing the Atlantic against the coast. But absolutely no reason for Adlai to do a horn-pipe in Missouri.

It was an exciting campaign but no reason why a sword-swallower shouldn't eat between meals. The Constitution says you can save the country once every four years. This time the Democrats decided to draw on their reserves.

We didn't like the way the New York GOP took over Averell Harriman, the poor boy with only one railroad. They did refrain from asking Averell why he left Pittsburgh. That's because they didn't want to ask Branch Rickey why he left Brooklyn.

We'll have to wait until the next investigation to find out if the best man won or not.

Surgery Usually Needed For Ulcer If Medicines Fail

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many families feel the strain of father's ulcer. His face is long but his temper is short. Most time no longer is pleasurable and everyone is obliged to eat what agrees with dad's ulcers. When this stage is reached, operation usually is needed; the head of the family has tried everything but feels no better.

When medicines fail to control distress, surgery generally is the answer. It is a life savor for the man doubled up with abdominal pain most of the day and night.

He subsists on milk and cream. The medicine cabinet is bulging with old anti-acids and the night stand next to the bed is covered with newer prescriptions.

Pain interferes with sleep and his office work is slipping. A successful operation makes him a new man. He is happy and so are his family and business associates.

No one knows why some ulcers fail to heal. Early neglect may be the cause; the victim waits too long before starting treatment or fails to follow doctor's orders after the diagnosis is made.

Many stall along on the soda bicarb regimen to ease discomfort and are satisfied so long as distress is relieved. But as the months pass they become suspicious that all is not well, more so when indigestion develops even when they are on their best behavior.

The individual who is too busy for adequate treatment also is a candidate for chronic peptic ulcer. His physician recommends a two or three week stay in the hospital because he knows that his patient cannot or will not rest or obtain proper care at home.

These men represent the familiar peptic ulcer type — tense, aggressive hustlers who never learned to relax. It is surprising how quickly they respond to treatment when taken away from their environment and hospitalized in a quiet, peaceful room. Their medication is given on schedule and the food is just as the doctor ordered. This is ideal treatment.

But some continue to have trouble despite the best therapy. The make-up of the victim may be too sensitive for ordinary civilized living.

Several operations are available. Some divorce the stomach from the brain by cutting the nerves leading to gastric pouch (vagotomy). In others, that part of the stomach containing the acid producing glands is removed (gastrectomy). Another popular procedure is gastroenterostomy, in

Former Associate Of Joe McCarthy Reveals Some Of Senator's Tactics

By Drew Fearson

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the McCarthy censure debate, a former associate of McCarthy's has given highly revealing information regarding his operations. They include:

1. An attempt by McCarthy to thwart the Senate committee probing his finances in 1951.

2. McCarthy's efforts to defeat Democratic candidates in Utah, Montana and Washington by smearing them as pro-Communist.

The ex-McCarthy associate, Harvey Matusow, is a former member of the Communist party who became disillusioned, gave information to the FBI and later joined McCarthy's long list of friends, informers and paid employees. Interviewed by this writer, Matusow told in detail how McCarthy had sent him to Utah to re-elect—of all people—Sen. Arthur Watkins, now chairman of the Senate committee which recommended the censure of McCarthy.

Matusow did this, he said, first by testifying before a Senate committee in Salt Lake City about Communists in the government and later by smearing Congressman Granger, Democratic opponent of Senator Watkins, as soft toward Communists.

"I used McCarthy logic," Matusow explained. "I said Granger was for pro-administration policy on China. China fell to the Reds and your boys are fighting in Korea."

Lady Witness Exits

"I also campaigned in Montana against Senator Mansfield and in Washington against Senator Jackson," Matusow said, "but the smear technique was not successful."

Describing his work for McCarthy in thwarting the Senate committee probing McCarthy's finances, Matusow said he had received a call from Mrs. J. B. Matthews, whose husband was then McCarthy's committee counsel, asking him to take Mrs. Arvilla Bentley out of the United States until the probe of McCarthy's finances blew over.

Mrs. Bentley, former wife of Congressman Alvin Bentley, had "loaned" $7,000 to McCarthy, while the congressman "loaned" $3,000. And the Senate wanted to question her regarding this and other contributions. Mrs. Bentley, Matusow said, had also paid for a Mutual network broadcast which McCarthy made before the 1950 elections.

Matusow said McCarthy knew all about the idea of taking Mrs. Bentley out of the United States away from Senate probes and that he, Matusow, had talked to McCarthy himself about it. He also said that McCarthy's attorney knew about the plan.

Mrs. Bentley remained in the British Bahamas outside the arm of a Senate subpoena for about two weeks, then came back to the United States, Matusow explained.

"Was this $10,000 the money used by McCarthy to speculate on the soy-bean market?" Matusow was asked.

"That's correct."

"Did Mrs. Bentley have any idea that McCarthy was going to use it for speculation?"

"No, she did not."

"Did she express any opinion to you about it?"

"Very definitely," Matusow replied. "She said that if she had known Senator McCarthy was going to speculate with this money, she never would have loaned it to him."

Matusow also said that McCarthy had asked him to investigate the New York Times, Time Magazine and other newspapers with a view to pinning the Communist party label on them.

"They had been attacking Senator McCarthy," the ex-McCarthyite explained, "and he was sore about it and wanted to take his revenge."

There was an interesting inside reason why the Republicans elected one lone Texas congressman, Bruce Alger, from Dallas. It was a pure case of Democratic revenge.

The revenge was not against the Republicans but against Democrat Walter Savage, who had double-crossed the Democrats in the 1952 presidential election.

Savage, who ran for Congress last week, was Democratic state chairman two years ago when he turned the Democratic machinery over to the Republicans in the presidential election and helped swing the state to Eisenhower. While Savage was Democratic state chairman, his partner, Alvin Lane, was Republican. They formed an interesting GOP team.

This year Savage decided to run for Congress as a Democrat. But when Dallas voters went to the polls on Tuesday, thousands of Democrats boycotted the Democratic candidate. Remembering the man who as Democratic chairman had thrown the party machinery to Eisenhower, many Democrats either voted against him or just didn't vote at all.

Meanwhile, the Republicans, who used Savage in 1952, destroyed him in 1954. They elected their own man, Alger.

NOTE—Savage had been so confident of victory that he had lined up his staff and even rented a house in Washington.

Republican Headache

Republicans are worried that the McCarthy censure session will turn into a party brawl with the Democrats sitting serenely on the sidelines.

Their chief concern is that McCarthy, who insists he can't be bought off with anything less than acquittal on the censure charge, will aim his smear machine at Republicans and drag them down with him. To avoid this, a group of moderates headed by Majority Leader Bill Knowland will try to water down the censure resolution and persuade McCarthy to accept it.

McCarthy is almost sure to refuse and will carry his fight on for weeks, no matter how much the censure resolution is toned down.

The Stock Market

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Twenty-five years ago I made a well-known forecast about an impending big break in the stock market. (Reprint of the article which appeared in the New York Times in 1929, recording my statement, will be sent to anyone free on request.) At the close of the previous day in 1929, the Dow-Jones Industrial Stock Average stood at 380. The market immediately began to weaken and shortly plunged down swiftly, closing at 230—a decline of 150 points in less than eight weeks. Today the Dow-Jones Industrial Average is 358, within six points of the highest figures since 1929. In fact, it has moved up over 100 points since September 1953.

Reactions To Be Expected

I expect another severe reaction sooner or later, of at least 50 to 75 points. Surely, present stock yields are now too low, when 1954 federal taxes are deducted. Such a break in the market could occur even during a period of good business activity such as I am now forecasting. Stock prices have of late demonstrated that they can move independently of both business and earnings. It is well to recall that, in 1929, there were few outward signs of the stock market crash ahead.

Investors were then anticipating larger dividend returns with a reduction in risk through diversified Investment Trust holdings and promised mass production and inventions "such as the world had never seen before." The research laboratories of our great industrial concerns were also then dependent on to bring these miracles about. In short, a "New Era" was then confidently anticipated. Basically, there was weakness, but it was apparent in stock market speculation.

Conservative Advice

The current market presents much the same irregular picture as was present in 1929. The so-called blue chips have outdistanced the bulk of the issues on the market, due to concentrated buying, much of it by institutions, pension funds, and mutual investment trusts. There are in addition many new crosscurrents in the market that did not exist in 1929. We have armament activity and other government buying, heavy spending, support of farm prices, and espe-

General Conditions Now Good

The banks are now sound; employment is now good; profits in most lines are fair; while very few stocks are being "bought on margin," all must have a margin of at least 50 per cent. Home building is actually booming, and the inflation since 1929 has justified higher prices for both homes and stocks. Again, I commend the importance of today's advertising.

The boom in home building is, however, becoming a possible source of danger. This is a new factor which did not exist 25 years ago. Where the danger signals of 1929 are not now evident, this new danger signal of the "building boom" is surely with us. Furthermore, today's building is mostly on borrowed money. Only the federal government can prevent a wave of mass foreclosures some day.

Installment Purchases

This brings me to another present danger, namely, installment purchases. These purchases are today not increasing rapidly. They, however, are still very heavy. Curiously, they are now being encouraged by the banks which would have nothing to do with small loans 25 years ago.

Another different condition today relates to labor unions. Every right-thinking person must approve the general usefulness of labor unions in their place. Unions are justified in striking if necessary to eliminate bad working conditions and to get a fair wage. The present system, however, of demanding more money merely because a union has a monopoly of a certain industry is wrong and could ultimately bring on a panic.

Even police officers, used to all kinds of criminal quirks, blinked their eyes when a gent in Norfolk, Va., made off with all four tires of a car but spurned a well-filled purse and diamond ring on the front seat. The car owner found this note next to the ring: "Roses are red; violets are blue; we admire your jewels but your tires are new." A hardened criminal, with a flair for poetry, opined the court. Not at all, demurred Pundit E. B. White: a plain case of a confirmed poet who was willing to go to any length in order to place his composition. We string along with Mr. White.

E. B. White also tells about a minor adventure in his days as a cub reporter. He was covering the morgue when a man was called in for possible identification of his wife. Somebody pulled back the sheet. The man took one agonizing look and cried, "My God! It's her!" That's how White reported the incident. His city editor a stickler for proper English, changed it to, "My God! That's she!"

Blow To Britain's Aircraft Industry

To the British aircraft industry, it must seem that it never rains but it pours. British pride suffered the worst blow to date in the postwar race for world air transport supremacy in an agreement reached between the British Overseas Aircraft Corporation and Douglas Aircraft, one of this country's two top air transport manufacturers. Ignoring its own producers, BOAC has contracted for a fleet of DC-7Ds, the newest plane this country is producing in quantity for fast, long distance, passenger transportation.

Two years ago the British were riding high in world air transport circles. Their Comets were zipping from London to Singapore and to South Africa, piling up a huge backlog of mileage and experience. Then the blow fell. There were two Comet tragedies, then a lull. Then two more exploded in the air over the Mediterranean within weeks of each other with a loss of all aboard. It has since been established that structural weaknesses in the main cabin caused the explosions as the pressurized ships reached high altitudes.

The Comets were, of course, grounded, and work on the improved Comet III was suspended while further tests were made. BOAC had had fond hopes of disposing of its piston-engined American-built Constellations and DC-6s for new British jet transports. Instead, the replacements are also coming from America.

However, BOAC is purchasing only the frames, and will have British turboprop engines installed, which will give the BOAC planes at least a speed advantage. With piston engines the planes will fly better than 4,000 miles non-stop at 380 miles per hour. Meanwhile both countries are watching the Boeing all-jet transport which is now undergoing flight tests.

Starting with a long handicap, the United States is now on the verge of taking over the air transport field. Perhaps the next planes BOAC buys may be American jets.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

There Was No Trend

As the election figures are studied, no trend is found, no unmistakable public response to any great party pronouncements or a public challenge to party officials. It is impossible to say that the election was pro- or anti-Eisenhower. The narrow margins are convincing that the Republicans might have managed to win hands down had they not, with characteristic ineptitude, embroiled themselves in intra-party conflicts in several states. On that, of course, there will be wide disagreement both as to cause and effect and one can let the subject pass without too much concern at this time.

The question is of the future. President Eisenhower continues to speak of the moderate approach to public problems which describes inadequately what that approach is. Who desires an immoderate approach and what is the nature of it? Until we know the extremes, it is impossible ever to know where the middle is. In Roosevelt's time, the phrase used to be "left of center," with the center undefined. Perhaps the reason for this queer election is that no one can truly state what anyone believes to be the truth.

During the campaign, when it was generally held that the Democrats, supported by organized labor, would win an enormous victory, it was often suggested that President Eisenhower would declare himself as a one-term president, that he would not run in 1956. No authority was ever cited for such a statement, but it was, from a political standpoint, a confusing one, because if it becomes generally believed, it can increase the conflicts within the Republican party by stimulating too many ambitions. It is true that President Eisenhower has made no public pronouncement on the subject.

It is customary in the United States for a president to run for two terms, even if he is not always elected to the second term. President Eisenhower is entitled to a second chance in 1956 and it ought to be understood that he will take it. If that is now iterated, Republican aspirants will have to step back to await their opportunity. No one in the Republican party comes out of this election so greatly confirmed by the American people as to be an outstanding contestant for President Eisenhower's post. There still is no successor in party leadership to Senator Robert A. Taft.

In the Democratic party, no one has created for himself so great a reputation as to be outstanding. While Adlai Stevenson assumed active leadership in the campaign, making speeches almost daily all over the country, the result of the election is not sufficient to establish that his participation in the campaign made much difference. No other Democratic personality emerged as an astonishing figure, except J. Strom Thurmond, whose write-in victory was surprising to the country, but which undoubtedly was the result of special local conditions in South Carolina with which other parts of the country are not familiar. Averell Harriman, whom friends before election day were grooming for the presidential nomination, received too narrow a majority to be regarded as significant from a national standpoint. He may now even have difficulty in controlling the New York delegation to the next Democratic convention.

The elimination of Thomas E. Dewey as a political leader in New York cannot be ignored. Three times elected as governor, twice a candidate for president, organizer of the nomination of Dwight Eisenhower at the 1952 Republican convention, Dewey could not carry his chosen successor, Irving Ives, to victory. The narrowness of the Harriman vote indicates that Ives could have won were there not a protest refusal to vote in the election by enough Republicans to make a difference. The defeat of Ives makes Jacob Javits, the attorney general, the leader of his party in the state. Javits is closely connected with the Liberal party and therefore he is likely to continue to be opposed by conservative Republicans.

In the New York situation, where men do unfortunately vote along religious and racial lines, in recent elections a tendency has appeared to substitute an Italian Catholic for an Irish Catholic in both parties. An analysis of election districts would indicate that the Irish Catholic Democrats have reasserted their strength by rejecting Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for attorney general. He lost in strictly Democratic districts to Jacob Javits, a Republican with Liberal party leanings, who is a Jew. This unusual result was anticipated by nobody.

Jack The Giant Killer

Stevenson As Well As Eisenhower Helped By Election

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
Oddly enough, although the election has certainly been a political net plus for President Eisenhower, it has probably also been a net plus for his old rival, Adlai Stevenson. This, at least, is the majority view among Stevenson's fellow Democrats.

If you look at the election results from a special, Stevensonian angle of vision, you can see why. The elections did not go nearly as well for the Democrats as they had expected. But they went surprisingly well for Stevenson nonetheless.

In the first place, Sen. Paul Douglas, from Stevenson's home state of Illinois, was re-elected by a healthy majority. It is no secret that the relationship between the two men has not always been exactly chummy. But this year, things were patched up, and Douglas and Stevenson did a Damon and Pythias act on the Illinois hustings. Stevenson went all out for Douglas, and Douglas, in introducing him, stopped just short of calling Stevenson "your next president."

Eisenhower gave Douglas's opponent, Joe Meek, his blessing. If the amiable but unimpressive Meek had beaten Douglas, this would have been interpreted universally as final proof that Stevenson was no match for Eisenhower. But instead, Stevenson's bet on Douglas paid off handsomely.

Stevenson-Minded Governors
What is more, where the Democratic performance almost lived up to Democratic hopes—in the governorship races—Stevenson did particularly well. The majority of the new Democratic governors, if not all-out Stevenson men, are at the very least decidedly Stevenson-minded.

This is particularly true of Muskie in Maine, Freeman in Minnesota, Leader in Pennsylvania, Ribicoff in Connecticut, and, last but not least, Harriman in New York. Harriman's victory gives him a ballot claim in 1956. But almost his first words after being elected were, "I'm for Stevenson."

Add that ex-President Truman, on the day after the election, for the first time came out flatly for Stevenson in 1956. A row between Truman and Stevenson, who have had their differences in the past, has been the great white hope of the large but ill-organized anti-Stevenson underground in the Democratic party.

It was hoped, for example, that such a row might start over the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee, the key party post soon to be vacated by Stevenson's man, Stephen Mitchell. The candidate of the southerners and conservatives in the anti-Stevenson underground was Sen. Earle Clements of Kentucky.

But now Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, anathema to regular Democrats because of his apostasy in 1952, has bestowed what is probably the kiss of death on Clements by coming out strong for him.

There appears to be a good chance that a compromise choice will be found in James Finnegan, an able Democratic politician from Philadelphia, who is believed acceptable to both the Truman and Stevenson forces. Thus there appears very little likelihood of a Truman-Stevenson row.

What, then, short of his falling down an empty elevator shaft, can beat Stevenson? The answer appears to be, "Stevenson."

Baering Down on The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

With the elections behind the towel rack we will conduct a class in slightly used history.

What were those things Adlai Stevenson was gandering in Maine and so goes Arizona?

We know he called them ground swells. Which is possible but not indicative of any decided trend. The first ground swell Adlai saw was in Maine. Which could use one.

Then he saw one in Illinois. Just enough to keep it out of Lake Michigan.

That one in Arizona could have been the Rockies. They're not exactly sponge-like but the state has a terrific amount of yeast in its geography.

What is a ground swell on a well-trapped fairway? It is mostly a maritime gimmick off the Grand Banks. Caused by distant storms elbowing the Atlantic against the coast. But absolutely no reason for Adlai to do a horn-pipe in Missouri.

It was an exciting campaign but no reason why a sword-swallower shouldn't eat between meals. The Constitution says you can save the country once every four years. This time the Democrats decided to draw on their reserves.

We didn't like the way the New York GOP took over Averell Harriman, the poor boy with only one railroad. They did refrain from asking Averell why he left Pittsburgh. That's because they didn't want to ask Branch Rickey why he left Brooklyn.

We'll have to wait until the next investigation to find out if the best man won or not.

Surgery Usually Needed For Ulcer If Medicines Fail

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many families feel the strain of father's ulcer. His face is long but his temper is short. Meal time no longer is pleasurable and everyone is obliged to eat what agrees with dad's ulcers. When this stage is reached, operation usually is needed; the head of the family has tried everything but feels no better.

When medicines fail to control distress, surgery generally is the answer. It is a life saver for the man doubled up with abdominal pain most of the day and night.

He subsists on milk and cream. The medicine cabinet is bulging with old anti-acids and the night stand next to the bed is covered with newer prescriptions.

Pain interferes with sleep and his office work is slipping. A successful operation makes him a new man. He is happy and so are his family and business associates.

No one knows why some ulcers fail to heal. Early neglect may be the cause; the victim waits too long before starting treatment or fails to follow doctor's orders after the diagnosis is made.

Many stall along on the soda bicarb regimen to ease discomfort and are satisfied so long as distress is relieved. But as the months pass they become suspicious that all is not well, more so when indigestion develops even when they are on their best behavior.

The individual who is too busy for adequate treatment also is a candidate for chronic peptic ulcer. His physician recommends a two or three week stay in the hospital because he knows that his patient cannot or will not rest or obtain proper care at home.

These men represent the familiar peptic ulcer type — tense, aggressive hustlers who never learned to relax. It is surprising how quickly they respond to treatment when taken away from their environment and hospitalized in a quiet, peaceful room. Their medication is given on schedule and the food is just as the doctor ordered. This is ideal treatment.

But some continue to have trouble despite the best therapy. The make-up of the victim may be too sensitive for ordinary civilized living.

Several operations are available. Some divorce the stomach from the brain by cutting the nerves leading to gastric pouch (vagotomy). In others, that part of the stomach containing the acid producing glands is removed (gastrectomy). Another popular procedure is gastroenterostomy, in

By Drew Fearson

WASHINGTON — On the eve of the McCarthy censure debate, a former associate of McCarthy's has given highly revealing information regarding his operations. They include:

1. An attempt by McCarthy to thwart the Senate committee probing his finances in 1951.

2. McCarthy's efforts to defeat Democratic candidates in Utah, Montana and Washington by smearing them as pro-Communists.

The ex-McCarthy associate, Harvey Matusow, is a former member of the Communist party who became disillusioned, gave information to the FBI and later joined McCarthy's long list of friends, informers and paid employees. Interviewed by this writer, Matusow told in detail how McCarthy had sent him to Utah to re-elect—of all people—Sen. Arthur Watkins, now chairman of the Senate committee which recommended the censure of McCarthy.

Matusow did this, he said, first by testifying before a Senate committee in Salt Lake City about Communists in the government and later by smearing Congressman Granger, Democratic opponent of Senator Watkins, as soft toward Communists.

"I used McCarthy logic," Matusow explained. "I said Granger was for pro-administration policy on China. China fell to the Reds and your boys are fighting in Korea."

Lady Witness Exits
"I also campaigned in Montana against Senator Mansfield and in Washington against Senator Jackson," Matusow said, "but the smear technique was not successful."

Describing his work for McCarthy

thy in thwarting the Senate committee probing McCarthy's finances, Matusow said he had received a call from Mrs. J. B. Matthews, whose husband was then McCarthy's committee counsel, asking him to take Mrs. Arvilla Bentley out of the United States until the probe of McCarthy's finances blew over.

Mrs. Bentley, former wife of Congressman Alvin Bentley, had "loaned" $7,000 to McCarthy, while the congressman "loaned" $3,000. And the Senate wanted to question her regarding this and other contributions. Mrs. Bentley, Matusow said, had also paid for a Mutual network broadcast which McCarthy made before the 1950 elections.

Matusow said McCarthy knew all about the idea of taking Mrs. Bentley out of the United States away from Senate probes and that he, Matusow, had talked to McCarthy himself about it. He also said that McCarthy's attorney knew about the plan.

Mrs. Bentley remained in the British Bahamas outside the arm of a Senate subpoena for about two weeks, then came back to the United States, Matusow explained.

"Was this $10,000 the money used by McCarthy to speculate on the soy-bean market?" Matusow was asked.

"That's correct."
"Did Mrs. Bentley have any idea that McCarthy was going to use it for speculation?"

"No, she did not."
"Did she express any opinion to you about it?"

"Very definitely," Matusow replied. "She said that if she had known Senator McCarthy was going to speculate with this money, she never would have loaned it to him."

Matusow also said that McCarthy had asked him to investigate the New York Times, Time Magazine and other newspapers with a view to pinning the Communist party label on them.

"They had been attacking Senator McCarthy," the ex-McCarthyite explained, "and he was sore about it and wanted to take his revenge."

There was an interesting inside reason why the Republicans elected one lone Texas congressman, Bruce Alger, from Dallas. It was a pure case of Democratic revenge.

The revenge was not against the Republicans but against Democrat Walter Savage, who had double-crossed the Democrats in the 1952 presidential election.

Savage, who ran for Congress last week, was Democratic state chairman two years ago when he turned the Democratic machinery over to the Republicans in the presidential election and helped swing the state to Eisenhower. While Savage was Democratic state chairman, his partner, Alvin Lane, was Republican. They formed an interesting GOP team.

This year Savage decided to run for Congress as a Democrat. But when Dallas voters went to the polls on Tuesday, thousands of Democrats boycotted the Democratic candidate. Remembering the man who as Democratic chairman had thrown the party machinery to Eisenhower, many Democrats either voted against him or just didn't vote at all.

Meanwhile, the Republicans who used Savage in 1952, destroyed him in 1954. They elected their own man, Alger.

NOTE—Savage had been so confident of victory that he had lined up his staff and even rented a house in Washington.

Republican Headache

Republicans are worried that the McCarthy censure session will turn into a party brawl with the Democrats sitting serenely on the sidelines.

Their chief concern is that McCarthy, who insists he can't be bought off with anything less than acquittal on the censure charge, will aim his smear machine at Republicans and drag them down with him. To avoid this, a group of moderates headed by Majority Leader Bill Knowland will try to water down the censure resolution and persuade McCarthy to accept it.

McCarthy is almost sure to refuse and will carry his fight on for weeks, no matter how much the censure resolution is toned down.

ally the intense new advertising programs, which I consider very important.

It is clear that the economic picture and the trend in the market can change abruptly and snowball rapidly to an unexpected degree. The real purpose of my column this week is to bring to your attention that the market may soon be in as vulnerable a position as in 1929, especially if the capital gains tax should be repealed, for which the "bears" are striving. Those who were unprepared in 1929 had no chance to take the profits they thought they possessed. Nor did they have purchasing power when the market reached the unbelievable bargain levels of 1932.

General Conditions Now Good

The banks are now sound; employment is now good; profits in most lines are fair; while very few stocks are being "bought on margin," all must have a margin of at least 50 per cent. Cleveland Routs Redskins, 62-3; Giants Trim Steelers, 30-6

Conerly, Price Highlight Win Of New York

Pittsburgh's Third Straight Sellout Of 36,358 Sees Contest

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (INS)—Chuck Conerly used deadly passing and the hard running of Eddie Price to guide the New York Giants to a 30-6 victory over a bewildered Pittsburgh Steelers team before 36,358 today.

The Giants entered the battle for a share of the Eastern Division lead of the National Football League a slight underdog. But they moved in front at the start and steadily increased their lead in a drive which put New York into a tie for the division lead with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Conerly seldom has been more effective. He threw three touchdown passes, tossing for 21, 22 and 13 yards. Price spearheaded a flock of fleet Giant runners and scored the other New York touchdown by diving over from the two. Ben Agajanian's accurate toe accounted for three conversions. A first period safety off a fumbled Steeler punt recovered by Pittsburgh in the end zone accounted for the other Giant points.

Johnny Lattner, former Notre Dame star, slanted five yards off tackle on the first play of the second quarter to give the Steelers their lone touchdown after an 80-yard drive. Ed Kiesel's attempted conversion was blocked. The third straight sellout at Forbes Field saw an alert Giants' defense frustrate every Steeler move, intercepting five passes and converting two fumble recoveries into touchdowns.

The Giants grabbed a 9-0 lead in the first period on a safety and a 21-yard touchdown pass by Conerly to Ken Macafee. They led 23-6 at halftime.

Conerly attempted 20 passes, completing 13, three of them for touchdowns. Finks, the Steelers quarterback, threw 31, hitting on 15. Four of Finks' heaves were intercepted. It was the Giants fifth victory against two set-backs and the Steelers' third loss in seven games.

Forty Niners Are Upset By Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Quarterback Norman Van Brocklin threw three touchdown passes and directed three more to lead the Los Angeles Rams to a 42-34 upset National Football League victory over the San Francisco 49ers before a jam-packed crowd of 60,000 at Kezar Stadium.

The defeat dropped the once mighty 49ers out of a tie with the Detroit Lions for first place in the league's Western Division.

The 49ers took a 17-7 lead in the first quarter and then wilted before the passing and running power of the Rams. San Francisco sorely missed the services of hurrying Hugh McElhenny, star half-back out for the season with a shoulder separation. McElhenny is the leading runner of the league.

The 49ers went into the game as 3½ point favorites.

The Rams scored a first period touchdown, two more each in the next two quarters and completed the rout with another touchdown in the final period.

The 49ers rushed over two touchdowns and kicked a field goal in the first quarter. Gordon Soltau kicked his second field goal in the second period and the 49ers counted two touchdowns in the final quarter.

Potomac State, Hubs, Handley Win; Romney Loses To Farmington

Farmington High's undefeated and oncedited Farmers evened their football series with Romney High at 2-2-1 by defeating the Pioneers in the latter's homecoming game Saturday afternoon at Romney. The score was 13-7.

Coach Earl Keener's eleven from Marion county scored twice in the second period; on Andy Outlook's 20-yard romp and an 18-yard aerial from Menas to Towell. Menas played one of the top Class "B" teams in West Virginia this season. It was the eighth victory against one tie for Farmington.

Glen Straw's 9-yard pass to Mike Coleman produced Romney's tie in the final period. Job. Smith converted from placement. The loss was Romney's fourth against five victories.

Bob Connolly, Pittsburgh; Bill Talbot, Webster Springs and Stephen Saliga, Benwood, scored touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods to bring Potomac State College a 20-0 decision over West Virginia Wesleyan's Bobcats Saturday afternoon in a WVIC contest at Stayman Field, Keyser. Jim DeGasperin, Kingwood, and Roger Parker, Romney, booted the extra points as coach Dan "Horse" Lough's Catamounts scored their fourth win of the season against two losses. The Catamounts wind up their season Saturday at Fairmont.

In other Saturday games, Hagerstown High defeated Baltimore City College in Hagerstown, 20-7, and undefeated Hagerstown High defeated Winchester won a close one from James Monroe High of Fredericksburg, 20-13.

St. Patrick's vs. SS. Peter & Paul

SS. Peter and Paul earned the right to battle St. Patrick's for the Catholic Youth Football League title next Sunday by defeating St. Mary's yesterday at Mt. Calvary Field on the Mason Road by the score of 18-13.

St. Mary's has concluded its schedule with a 2-2 record. In event St. Patrick's and SS. Peter and Paul battle to a tie next Sunday the race would end in a triple tie.

SS. Peter and Paul took a 6-0 lead in the first period when Bernard Barb took Mike Mackert's handoff and ran 30 yards for the score. Denny Smith went over for the second score in the second period after a 13-yard pass from Barb to Walter Grabenstein had put the ball on the 13.

Joe Footen accounted for both of St. Mary's touchdowns, the first on a 20-yard gallop and the second on a 40-yard sprint. He also made the conversion.

Barb's pass to Grabenstein produced SS. Peter and Paul fourth period score.

SS. Peter and Paul reeled off eight first downs to nine for the 49ers.

Cleveland Routs Redskins, 62-3; Giants Trim Steelers, 30-6

Conerly, Price Highlight Win Of New York

Pittsburgh's Third Straight Sellout Of 36,358 Sees Contest

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (INS)—Chuck Conerly used deadly passing and the hard running of Eddie Price to guide the New York Giants to a 30-6 victory over a bewildered Pittsburgh Steeler team before 36,358 today.

The Giants entered the battle for a share of the Eastern Division lead of the National Football League a slight underdog. But they moved in front at the start and steadily increased their lead in a drive which put New York into a tie for the division lead with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Conerly seldom has been more effective. He threw three touchdown passes, tossing for 21, 22 and 13 yards. Price spearheaded a flock of fleet Giant runners and scored the other New York touchdown by diving over from the two. Ben Agajanian's accurate toe accounted for three conversions. A first period safety off a fumbled Steeler punt recovered by Pittsburgh in the end zone accounted for the other Giant points.

Johnny Lattner, former Notre Dame star, slanted five yards off tackle on the first play of the second quarter to give the Steelers their lone touchdown after an 80-yard drive. Ed Kessel's attempted conversion was blocked. The third straight sellout at Forbes Field saw an alert Giants' defense frustrate every Steeler move, intercepting five passes and converting two fumble recoveries into touchdowns.

The Giants grabbed a 9-0 lead in the first period on a safety and a 21-yard touchdown pass by Conerly to Ken Macatee. They led 26-6 at halftime.

Conerly attempted 20 passes, completing 13, three of them for touchdowns. Finks, the Steelers' quarterback, threw 31, hitting on 13. Four of Finks' heaves were intercepted. It was the Giants' fifth victory against two set-backs and the Steelers' third loss in seven games.

New York 9 14 7-20
Pittsburgh 0 6 0-6
New York scoring: New York, Macatee, Rote, Price, Topp, Conversions, Agajanian 4, Safety, by Chandross.

Practice makes perfect . . . that goes for dancing, too!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To be a better dancer, you must develop grace and confidence. These attributes, in conjunction, will make you a popular partner. Forget the idea that learning to lead will ruin your dancing. One of the country's foremost dance instructors discovered, when visiting classes in girls' clubs, high schools and colleges, that those singled out by their classmates as the best dancers were girls who could lead. They had confidence in themselves, from knowing the steps and being able to anticipate what their partners would do.

Confidence without grace, however, can still leave you a wallflower. Strive to banish every trace of awkwardness from your body by encouraging control of every movement you make. Stiffen, and your body will naturally resist your partner's lead. Relax, and you will just as readily respond.

Posture Important

Never underestimate the effect of good posture on your sureness of step and your appearance on the dance floor. A girl who droops over her partner's shoulder, or pushes her body backwards out of proper alignment, cannot coordinate her movements to those of her escort—or to the music.

Encourage your natural grace by dancing solo to the music of records or radio. Follow the limbering routines in my booklet, "Dance Through a Week to Beauty!" (see below) or make up some of your own. Here's one to rehearse with your favorite waltz:

Stand erect, but relaxed, as you step out with your right foot and bring your left heel into your right instep; as you take this step, swing your arms forward to shoulder level. Now, step out with your left foot, bringing your right heel into the left instep and swinging your arms down from their forward position to your sides, then quickly up to shoulder level.

Step back on your right foot (bring the left heel in) as you swing your arms back down to your sides, then forward and up until they are low over your head. Step back on your left foot (bring your right heel in) as you raise your arms still further upward—as far as they will reach. Keep your arms over your head while you take four alternate right and left steps; with each step, bend sideways from the waist—when your weight is on the right foot, bend right, and when it is on the left foot, bend left. Finish with feet together and arms flung over your head.

Continuous Motion

Perform each movement slowly first, then repeat until your motions become continuous and rhythmic. The more rhythm you have, the more grace the exercise will develop. And the more improvement there'll be in your dancing.

Directed EXCLUSIVELY for readers of this column, delightful solo dance steps anyone can do. They bring increased grace and reduced measurements as proved by test. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover costs for a copy of DANCE THROUGH A WEEK TO BEAUTY.

Tomorrow—Beauty at your fingertips.

Co-Op Representatives Will Go To Richmond

A number of Allegany County representatives will attend the 31st annual stockholders meeting of Southern States Cooperative Thursday and Friday in Richmond, Va.
Attending will be Frank Morgan of Frostburg, Chester A. Green of Lonaconing, William Wilson, manager of Southern States Cooperative here; John D. Liebau, manager of the Queen City Cooperative Dairy, Inc., and Charles Clise, manager of the Clise Feed and Supply Company.
The meeting will be featured by the annual report of the 1953-54 operations by General Manager O. E. Zaharias Jr., of Richmond and the finals of the six-state Southern States Farm Talent Round-up.

Nine Tucker County Fair Directors Named

PARSONS, W. Va. — Nine men were elected members of the Board of Directors for the Tucker County Fair Association.
Members will be Gilbert Smith of Davis, Reggie DiBacco of Thomas, Howard Ashby of St. George, Frank Canfield of Kerens, Chet F. Phillips of Montrose, Selby Adams of Limestone, Cecil E. Parsons of Canaan Valley, Earl Corcoran and J. Kenton Lambert of Parsons.
The association will hold another meeting at the Court House on November 18 at which time the Board of Directors will elect officers. The old Fair Association ended the year with an indebtedness of $200 including prizes which will be paid off during the year the new organization hope.

Frostburg VFW To Hear District Commander

FROSTBURG — District No. 3 Commander James Edwards of the Queen's Point Memorial Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the guest speaker at a dinner to be held by John R. Fairgrieve Post 2462 Thursday, at 8 p. m.
The dinner will be in commemoration of the first Veterans Day and also to celebrate the membership drive.
Other guests will include Mayor Perry Myers and members of the city council.

Bayard Church Plans Revival Services

ORMANIA, W. Va. — Special revival services will be held at the Bayard Methodist Church beginning at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, according to Rev. W. E. Wade, pastor of the Gorman Methodist charge.
Mrs. Marie Wade, wife of the pastor, will bring the messages. She asks that members pray for the success of the revival and plan to attend regularly. Visitors will be welcomed.

Grant County Teachers Will Meet Tonight

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The Grant County Classroom Teachers Association will meet in the Mt. Storm Grade School this evening, at 7:30 o'clock.
Linton Sites, chairman of the program committee has announced that the topic to be discussed at this meeting is "The Use and Effect of Comic Books in the Classroom."

Ross Shaw To Direct Oldtown Dimes Drive

OLDTOWN—Mrs. Lester R. McGill, general chairman of the 1955 March of Dimes campaign in Allegany County, has named Ross F. Shaw as chairman for Oldtown and vicinity.
Shaw has been chairman for several years. He recently donated $10 to the National Headquarters in the emergency drive on behalf of the Crespas Society.

Visit In Lonaconing

LONA CONING — Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Dunson, of Terra Alta, W. Va., visited Miss Margaret Marks and Mrs. Julia Corfield, at Lonaconing, on Sunday.

Takes Basic Training

FROSTBURG—Robert F. Lloyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Lloyd, McCulloch Street, here, who recently enlisted in the U. S. Marines, is taking his basic training at Paris Island. He is a graduate of Beall High School and had been employed in the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Roll Call Scheduled

LONA CONING—Annual roll call will be held today by the Morning Star Temple No. 1, Pythian Sisters, at Lonaconing.

Pastor Accepts Call

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Pastor S. C. H. Sholtz, Woodboro, Texas, has accepted a call to serve as pastor in the Franklin Lutheran parish. He will succeed Pastor Orville E. Leuck, who now is serving a parish in Canton, Ohio.

Roll Call Planned

PIEDMONT — Calanthe Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, will hold its annual roll call Tuesday evening.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed Friday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Lillian Lucille Haggard vs. Ova Nelson Haggard.

Hasseyampa To Run In Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP) — R. W. McIlwain of Walmac Farm has accepted an invitation to run his Hasseyampa in the Pimlico Special—limited this year to 3-year-olds—on Nov. 20.
Maryland Jockey Club officials said eight of the original list of bids to the Special have been accepted, but two withdrawals have reduced the field as it now stands to six.
The mile and three-sixteenths test carries a purse of $50,000 with $35,000 going to the winner.

Hasseyampa To Run In Pimlico Special

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP)—R. W. McElvain of Walmac Farm has accepted an invitation to run his Hasseyampa in the Pimlico Special—limited this year to 3-year-olds—on Nov. 20.
Maryland Jockey Club officials said eight of the original list of bids to the Special have been accepted, but two withdrawals have reduced the field as it now stands to six.
The mile and three-sixteenths test carries a purse of $50,000 with $35,000 going to the winner.

Education Week Activities Set In Ridgeley

American Education Week will be observed in the Ridgeley Schools with "Open House" scheduled from 7 to 8 p. m. Tuesday, and a combined meeting of the elementary and the high school P. T. A.'s in the high school auditorium at 8:10 following the parents' visitation.
Vernon A. Staggers, principal of the Piedmont schools, will address the P.T.A. meeting on the State Education Association's Legislative Program.
Pupils from grades one to six of the elementary school will appear on the program as book characters in a pageant emphasizing Book Week, and Mrs. Mary Woolford, high school music teacher, will direct a period of group singing of songs selected for the occasion.

In a ceremony preceding the P.T.A. program, Avis Comer, vice-commander of the Ridgeley American Legion Post, will present to Ridgeley High School the Legion's Memorial Plaque honoring William Shuck, Ridgeley's Presidential Citation Korean War hero.

Principal M. M. Heiskell will accept the plaque for the school.

Badminton Club To Be Sponsored

The City Recreation Department will again sponsor a badminton club for adults, which will meet each Thursday evening at Fort Hill High School, and one for students, which will meet Saturday afternoon at the same place.
The program will be under the direction of L. E. Van Sant and Richard, nets and birds will all be furnished by the Recreation Department.

This Thursday evening's program will incorporate both the Recreation Department badminton club of last year, and the semi-private badminton club which has been meeting at Fort Hill on Monday evenings.

The hours will be from 7:30 to 10 for adults on Thursday and from 1:30 to 5 on Saturday afternoon for students.

All persons interested in playing may attend and for those who do not know how to play, instruction will be available free of charge from Van Sant.

A small fee will be charged adults.

Bobcats Lose Final; Season Record 5-2-1

FROSTBURG STATE TEACHERS College's bobcats suffered their second shutout defeat in as many days as they fell before the Wolfpack of North Carolina State Saturday Morning at Raleigh, N. C. The score was 2-0, the same as in the Duke University contest at Durham on Friday.
Coach Ken Babcock's eleven wound up the 1954 campaign with a record of five wins, two losses and one tie. Wins were scored over Indiana (Pa.) Teachers 4-0; Mt. St. Mary's 5-1; Slippery Rock Teachers 4-1; Penn State Frostburg 2-1; and Grove City College 4-0. A 2-2 tie was played with Salisbury (Md.) Teachers.

Keyser Man Hurt In Grade Crossing Crash

Forrest Rotruck Is In 'Fair' Condition

A Keyser man was badly injured early yesterday morning when the car he was driving collided with the B & O's West Virginian on the Main Street grade crossing there.

He is Forrest Rotruck, 40, of 147 Mozelle Street, Keyser, who was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital there suffering from chest injuries, multiple fractures of the ribs and shock.

His physicians, Drs. Robert L. Coffman and Paul T. Healey, listed his condition as fair.

An employee of the A & P super market in Keyser, Rotruck was en route to his home at 2:15 a. m. when his car collided with B & O passenger train No. 23, westbound from Washington to Parkersburg. Keyser police said the sedan Rotruck was driving was pushed some 50 feet by the train but did not turn over. It was described as a complete wreck.

Officer Raymond Dawson, who investigated, reported the engineer, O. W. Gilpin of Cumberland, was at the controls and did not see the car approaching from the left side.

B & O signal crews are working on the construction of automatic gate signals for the grade crossing.

It is now protected by a system of flashing lights, bells and signs.

Veterans Day To Be Marked Here Thursday

Impressive ceremonies are being planned here Thursday to mark the first observance of Veterans Day.

The program for the day, formerly marked as Armistice Day, will be sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

The program, starting at 10 a. m., will include the naturalization of six citizens, several talks, unveiling of the Honor Roll moved from City Hall to the Post Office building, and a parade.

The Legion has issued an invitation to all veterans' organizations, as well as to their auxiliaries and to the Gold Star Mothers and Navy Mothers, to participate in the celebration.

Naturalization Set
Through the cooperation of Allegany County Circuit Court and the naturalization section of the Department of Immigration, the program will commence in Circuit Court.

Associate Judge George Henderson will administer the oath of allegiance to six naturalized persons. Citizenship examinations will be held Tuesday.

The Marine Corps Reserve and the National Guard will provide a color guard in the courtroom and George Ziegler, commander of the Legion post here, will present the new citizens with a scroll of the Declaration of Independence.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall has tentatively accepted an invitation to attend and speak. An address will be delivered by Matthew J. Mullane, president of the Allegany County Bar Association.

At 11 a. m., ceremonies will get underway in the Post Office building where the new Honor Roll will be unveiled. Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon will officiate and Mrs. Alpharetta King Parker will sing "The Star Spangled Banner".

Mayor Roy W. Eves will read a proclamation on Veterans Day and William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, will speak briefly.

Mason To Speak
In charge of the unveiling event will be the Gold Star Mothers. A color guard and the sounding of taps will precede a talk by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will give the invocation and Rabbi Daniel Lowy, spiritual director of B'er Chayim Congregation, will offer a prayer. Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will officiate at the benediction.

A formal retreat to the colors will be held at 5 p. m. in the Legion Home on Harrison Street. Committees for the entire project include Thomas B. Finan, Russell J. Paupe, Samuel A. Graham, Ziegler, Conlon and Mason.

Living Cost For Farmers Takes Jump

Incomes Decline For State Group

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—The cost of living took a jump for Maryland farmers between mid-September and mid-October.

The Maryland Crop Reporting Service said yesterday the prices received by farmers for their products dropped seven index points between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. At the same time, the prices the farmers pay for the things they use dropped only one index point.

The result, said the service, was that the farmers index of the ratio between prices received and prices paid dropped to 92 per cent from 95 a month earlier and 97 a year ago. However, Maryland farmers weren't so terribly hard off—the nationwide score was 87.

The service said income from dairy products climbed a little, thanks to a seasonal increase in the wholesale price of milk. However, all other commodity groups showed declines.

The sharpest of these was in poultry products with the price of chickens hitting their lowest point since last December.

Prices increased for barley and wheat, and oats were unchanged, but other grains were lower—corn down 23 cents a bushel and soybeans down 15 cents.

Prices for hogs, beef cattle, veal calves and lambs went down. Hog prices dropped the farthest as the marketing of the spring pig crop increased.

Paper Company, Union Enter Negotiations

Representatives of the United Paperworkers of America (CIO) and officials of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company are in session in Washington for the purpose of drawing up a new working agreement for the coming fiscal year for the Luke, Covington, Va., Williamsburg, Pa., mills.

Luke Local 676 is being represented by Wilbur Johnson, president; Eugene Dawson, Lee Miller and Charles Butler, Dan Staley of the personnel department is representing the company.

Meeting Set Tonight

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will hold its regular monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the squad room of the Public Safety Building.

County Safety Week Features Special Dinner

National Council Speaker To Be Here

George Grotz, Eastern representative of the National Safety Council, will be the principal speaker at the dinner meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel Tuesday, November 16, which will feature the sixth annual Allegany County Safety Week.

Although the Western Maryland Safety Council always has brought a recognized safety expert to speak at the County Safety Week dinner, this is the first year that the speaker has been a representative of the National Safety Council. Grotz is considered one of the most outstanding speakers on the National Safety Council staff, according to Paul E. Burley, president of the Western Maryland Safety Council.

Allegany County is the only one in Maryland with a definite safety program featuring a special week in the year. These observances started back in 1949 and have been conducted in October or November each year since.

Local safety leaders say that the National Safety Council has finally agreed with the contention here that home, farm and highway safety can best be taught on the local level.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder is serving as chairman of the dinner committee. Between 75 and 80 safety leaders from industry, labor, service clubs, women's groups, fire and police departments are expected to attend the dinner.

Eight Men Enlist In Air Force Here

Eight local and area men have enlisted in the Air Force and are now undergoing basic training.

Those who enlisted at the local office and were sent to Sampson AF Base, Geneva, N.Y., include: Angus L. Campbell, Mt. Savage; Robert S. Keister, Ridge; and William A. Snyder Jr., Ridgeley, W.Va.

Five men were sent to Lackland AF Base in Florida and include: Robert W. Bennett, 330 Cecelia Street; Homer Brill Jr., 1403 Bedford Street; Ardevn C. Crouse, Shalimar; Alan F. Hosier, RD 5, Cresaptown; and Carl Lewis, Star Route, Springfield, W.Va.

Upon completion of basic training the enlistees will be given 10-day furloughs plus travel time to their new duty stations.

Varied Activities Planned To Mark Optimist Week Here

Cumberland Optimist Club, joining nearly 1,000 other clubs throughout the nation, will observe Optimist Week this week with a series of events which began yesterday and will end on Saturday.

Highlights of the week-long observance will include the banquet and awarding of a plaque to C. E. Van Ausdale as the city's most optimistic person of the year on Wednesday and the crowning of a queen, Miss Optimist, by the Braddock Junior Optimist Club Thursday.

Yesterday was Church Day for the Optimists, their wives and friends, and members of the junior Optimist club as they attended services at Central Methodist Church.

Today President Earl Nonnenmann will ask the Mayor and City Council to issue a proclamation setting aside this week as Optimist Week. He also will present Mayor Roy W. Eves with a framed copy of the Optimist Creed.

Homer S. Higgins, a member of the Optimist Club and supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education will present a copy of the creed to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and the principals of various county public schools on Tuesday. He also will request the creed be read to school students by their teachers.

At the regular weekly dinner meeting Wednesday at 6 p. m. at the Central YMCA, Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will be the principal speaker as Van Ausdale is honored and presented with the plaque proclaiming him the year's most optimistic person. Van Ausdale, stricken with polio in 1928 and lacking almost complete use of his legs, still works every day at his job as a lens grinder at the White Haines Optical Company here.

Thursday the Optimists will honor veterans and will participate in the Veterans Day parade that evening. The junior Optimists will announce their selection as queen and she will take part in the parade.

Members of the Optimist Club's Hot Stove League baseball team, champions of the circuit, will also participate along with the Braddock Junior Optimist Club. Balloons will be released along the parade route.

Additional plans are scheduled Friday and Saturday under the direction of the committee in charge, Robert Collins, chairman, Donald W. Mason and Walter Weires.

Officers in the club are President Nonnenmann, vice presidents Mason, Frank Kaplan, Orville Swartley and Wallace Wilson and L. Newton Evans, secretary treasurer.

4-H Junior Extension Will Hear Student

Harry Magness of Harford County, an international farm youth exchange student, will talk about his farm experiences in Belgium at a meeting of the Allegany County 4-H Junior Extension Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Knights of Malta Hall.

Miss Justine E. Miller, assistant home demonstration agent, and James A. Wearnert, assistant county agent, stress that local 4-H Club leaders and older 4-H boys and girls are especially invited. The Knights of Malta Hall is located on Prospect Square, just behind the Court House. Refreshments will be served.

Alumni Association To Plan Yule Dance

Christmas dance plans will be completed at the regular meeting of the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association today at 7:30 in the school.

Financial reports for the year will be given and final plans for the pep rally, Thanksgiving eve and the Queen's float for the game are to be made.

Clothing Give-Away Scheduled Tomorrow

A give-away of clothing will be held tomorrow, beginning at 10 a. m., in the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 41 Oak Street.

Sponsored by the Dorcas Society, the distribution will include clothing for men, women and children.

Spiker's Bird Wins Final Pigeon Race

Miss Smith from the Wing Ridge Loft of R. I. Spiker won the last regular race of the 1954 young bird series of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 300-mile flight from Cincinnati, Ohio.

The race turned out to be a difficult one, the slowest of the series. Cold weather and unfavorable winds hampered the birds. There were nine lofts and 37 pigeons competing but only 18 reported home.

Winning time for Miss Smith was 1,104.75 yards per minute. Second was Hobo, from the Excello Loft of M. M. Green, 1,098.04 yards per minute. In third place was Red Mouse from the MacArthur Loft of C. A. Smith and J. J. McAtee with a speed of 1,096.24 yards per minute.

Others finishing among the leaders were K. C. Kitty, from MacArthur Loft, 1,095.83 yards; Lucy, from Lucky's Loft of Joseph Luckiewicz, 1,094.44 yards; Clara-bell, Town View Loft of Galen Beeman, 1,086.34 yards; Hawk II, Lucky's Loft, 1,076.28 yards; Red Ball, Excello Loft, 1,065.08 yards; Indiscretion, Lost Loft of Dudley Shafer, 1,037.94 yards; Inspiration, Lost Loft, 1,030.45 yards; and Stony, North End Loft of Francis Stichter, 1,011.16 yards.

The MacArthur Loft won the average speed award for the seven races with 1,196.37 yards per minute for 139,598,764.80 yards flown. Excello Loft was second with 1,193.49 yards average speed for 141,321,840 yards flown. Wing Ridge Loft was third at 1,187.08 for 142,939,209.95 yards.

MacArthur Loft also won the special bond race. The winning bird registered 1,467.34 yards per minute, the fastest speed yet recorded by the club. Old bird races will be resumed by the club next May.

Official Canvass In Md. Election Still Incomplete

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP)—Baltimore City and three counties—Baltimore, Harford and Montgomery—still must complete official canvasses before the results of statewide balloting in Tuesday's general election in Maryland will be official.

Anne Arundel County completed its canvass Saturday and placed the "official" stamp on the results. With the city and three counties still not official, the statewide totals for governor were: McKel-din 380,392, Byrd 319,107. In the attorney general's race, Democrat C. Ferdinand Sybert had 324,800 and 287,295 for Republican Edward D. E. Rollins, the incumbent.

Totals in the 5th District congressional contest, the only other race affected by the Anne Arundel official figures, stood at 61,109 for Democrat Richard E. Lankford and 52,419 for Rep. Frank Small.

Aged Man Lost On Mountain For Nearly 4 Hours

'Blacks Out' During Search For Walnuts

A 69-year-old Cumberland man was lost for nearly four hours on Warrior Mountain last night before finding his way home.

O. R. Spangler, 410 Broadway Circle, was reported by his family to be "very tired and badly scratched up" after he came home at 9:30 p. m. after having been missing in the woodlands since about 6 o'clock.

The elderly man had gone into the woods with a friend, Ira Kessecker, Louisiana Avenue, to hunt walnuts about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

When Kessecker returned to Cumberland in the car at 6 p. m. and reported he was unable to locate Spangler in the forest, the family notified State Police.

Meanwhile several of the retired B&O railroad freight conductor's former working companions organized a search and, with Kessecker, returned to Warrior Mountain.

Spangler, badly scratched about the face, arms and legs, returned to his home some 3 1/2 hours later. His family said he told them he "blacked out" while on his way to join Kessecker at their car after they had finished their search for walnuts.

When he regained consciousness before Kessecker returned to the woods to look for him he lost his bearings, he said, and started in the opposite direction.

When Kessecker did come looking for him he was unable to find the man, and after searching for awhile in the woods returned to Cumberland to report him missing. Spangler's family said last night he is an experienced hunter and woodsman and they became concerned for his health when he didn't return. It was the first time he ever became lost, they said.

The elderly man said he walked about 10 miles before coming upon a road which he followed until he found familiar surroundings. He said he stopped at several farm houses along the way but found no one at home.

Finally when he regained his bearings Spangler asked a man who lived in the area to bring him home in his automobile.

City Has Fixed Assets Valued At $14,146,000

Fixed assets of the City of Cumberland are valued at $14,146,040.02, almost double the bonded indebtedness, according to the audited 1954 financial report.

Included in the city-owned property are bridges and subways with a book value of $3,707,737.23, a sewage system valued at $1,469,307.02, and public buildings and land worth some $137,066.

Flood protection work which has been turned over to the city is valued at $1,376,568.80. City-owned lots are valued at $94,940 and public parks at $186,605.75.

The city-owned Memorial Hospital is carried on the books at $729,895.50.

The Water Department assets include dams, water lines, buildings and equipment valued at $5,822,351.39, and the city holds title to all of the $25,000 stock of the Evitts Creek Water Company, the Pennsylvania corporation which operates the city's storage and water treatment facilities in the Lake Gordon area.

The report, prepared by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, lists the values of the assets as $6,906,404.02 in excess of bonded indebtedness. Against these assets were $2,340,000 of general bonds due serially and $1,275,000 of term bonds, making a total general obligation of $3,615,000.

Water Department bonds, both serial and term, totaled $3,625,000, making the total bonded indebtedness of the city $7,240,000 on June 30.

Set aside in a sinking fund was $2,653,555.98 to retire the $3,980,000 of term bonds.

Jail Inmate Cuts Wrist With Blade

A 33-year-old Bloomington man, an inmate of the Mineral County Jail in Keyser, slashed one of his wrists early Saturday night, according to Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

The man, William Warren Wilson, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser by Cpl. Tribett for treatment of his wound and then was returned to his cell.

Wilson was arrested last Wednesday on a robbery charge and is being held pending action of the January grand jury. He and Arlie W. Evans, 37, of Beryl, W. Va., are accused of robbing Alex Briskey, 69-year-old retired coal miner, of $100.

Jail attendants said that in the past several days the prisoner had acted strangely.

No explanation was offered as to how Wilson happened to have a razor in his cell.

Fort Ashby Man Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

Paul Klein's Body Discovered At Home

A retired 59-year-old Fort Ashby man took his own life about 6:30 last evening after calling a friend of the family and telling where his body would be found.

Paul Hubert Klein was found lying at the foot of the front porch of his home in Fort Ashby with a bullet in his right temple. A .38 caliber revolver was lying beside the body and Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin of Mineral County said the death was a suicide. He indicated no inquest will be held.

Grocer Gets Call
Cecil Hersherberger, Fort Ashby grocer, told Rankin and Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police that Klein had called him shortly before 6:30 and said he was "going to do away with myself."

Hersherberger said Klein told him where it would happen. The grocer immediately got in touch with K. B. Welch, secretary of the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company, and the pair drove immediately to the Klein home.

They found Klein's body lying face up beside the front porch walk at the bottom of the steps. No one else was home at the time and neighbors who lived next door to the Kleins reported hearing the shot but believed it was a car backfiring at the time. He apparently shot himself just a few moments before Hersherberger and Welch arrived.

Welsh said Klein was a member of the fire company and that he and Hersherberger were friends of the dead man and his family.

Note On Desk
Tribett and Rankin said Klein left a note on a writing desk in his home outlining arrangements for his funeral and indicated he was despondent because of ill health.

Friends of the family stated that Klein had been ill for a number of years, troubled mainly with an asthmatic condition.

His family had been visiting in Paw Paw and were on their way home when the shooting occurred.

The World War I veteran had lived in Fort Ashby for about 15 years, they said.

Born in Okonoko, W.Va., Klein was a former Peoples Life Insurance Company agent and also a salesman for Spoerl's Garage in Cumberland. In later years he had been custodian of the Fort Ashby High School before his illness forced him to retire.

Besides being a member of the volunteer fire company, Klein belonged to Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley American Legion, the Methodist Church, and the Cumberland Knights of Malta Star of East Commandery Lodge 461.

He is survived by his widow, the former Nannie G. Kaylor; a daughter, Mrs. Maxine Malcolm, Fort Ashby; three grandchildren; three brothers, Albert C. Klein, Berkeley Springs; Henry E. Klein, Romney; and Milton S. Klein, Hyattsville.

Three sisters, Mrs. Edith Largent, Mrs. Guy Kave, and Mrs. Charles Rice, all of Cumberland, also survive.

Zoo-Type Drivers Depicted In Safety Council Series

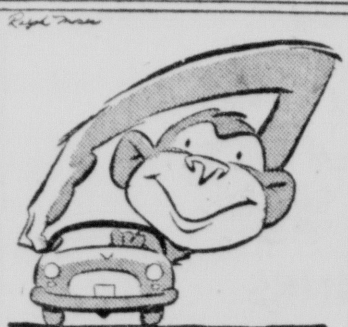

With the approach of the dangerous winter driving season, The Cumberland News today begins presentation of "Highway Zoo," a series of thumbnail portraits of drivers you'd most like to strangle, prepared by the National Safety Council.

First in the series is the chimpanzee-type of driver whom you belong in the urge-to-kill department (see picture). Others, of no less annoying and dangerous natures, will follow.

Anyone who drives a car probably has met most of them on the highway. Unless he's an unusually lucky person, any driver who's met them has probably had an accident or a near-accident as a result of the diodes common to these species who haunt the concrete traffic jungles.

Safety is particularly important at this time of year. Last year, between December 15 and January 1, 27 Marylanders were killed and 716

HIGHWAY ZOO

The CHIMPANZEE

This is the character who hangs on to the roof of the car with his left hand while he drives with his right. This leads to all sorts of monkey business in traffic. Just why the big ape does this, no one has ever been able to figure out.

Fire Training Classes To Be Held In Area

Plans Progress For State Meeting Here

Plans for fire training courses in Western Maryland were completed in LaVale yesterday at a meeting of the executive board of the Allegany and Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

David E. Kirk, president, said the classes will be taught by William A. Wilson, Cromwell E. Zembower and Joseph Stuckey under the direction of the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

Wilson will teach the basic fire fighting course at Barton on Sundays at 2:30 p. m., an advanced course at Frostburg on Sundays at 7:30 p. m., and a basic course Mondays at 7:30 p. m. in Midland.

Classes Scheduled
Zembower will be instructor for an advanced class, for the Kitzmiller and Deer Park area, at Kitzmiller on Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m.; an advanced class at Grantsville Fridays at 6:30 p. m.

Stuckey will teach an advanced course in Westernport Thursdays at 7:30 p. m. and advanced training at Corriganville Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m.

Robert Byrns, chief of the fire service, outlined the 20 week courses and said they will be part of the 88 classes being held in the state this fall and winter.

Zembower, who heads the association's Civil Defense committee, announced that all volunteer fire companies desiring mobile radios should apply immediately to William G. Barger, county CD director.

Radio equipment was installed on equipment used by 20 companies last year, and additional equipment can be secured, e added, from 1954-55 CD appropriations.

Plan Convention
The Fire Prevention committee reported talks were made before PTA groups in Ellerslie, Corriganville and Midland, the Mt. Savage Lions Club and the Kiwanis and Optimist clubs of Cumberland.

The Convention committee reported plans are progressing for the 1955 state convention to be held in Cumberland in June and that another meeting will be held December 12 in LaVale.

Yesterday's executive session was attended by representatives of 21 of the 31 fire companies in the association.

The next meeting of the executive board will be held December 5 at 2 p. m. in Corriganville.

Kirk announced that 10 representatives from Allegany and Garrett counties will attend a meeting of the state executive board Sunday in Havre de Grace.

Keyser Man Hurt In Grade Crossing Crash

Forrest Rotruck Is In 'Fair' Condition

A Keyser man was badly injured early yesterday morning when the car he was driving collided with the B & O's West Virginian on the Main Street grade crossing there.

He is Forrest Rotruck, 40, of 147 Mozelle Street, Keyser, who was admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital there suffering from chest injuries, multiple fractures of the ribs and shock.

His physicians, Drs. Robert L. Coffman and Paul T. Healey, listed his condition as fair.

An employee of the A & P super market in Keyser, Rotruck was en route to his home at 2:15 a. m. when his car collided with B & O passenger train No. 23, westbound from Washington to Parkersburg. Keyser police said the sedan Rotruck was driving was pushed some 591 feet by the train but did not turn over. It was described as a complete wreck.

Officer Raymond Dawson, who investigated, reported the engineer, O. W. Gilpin of Cumberland, was at the controls and did not see the car approaching from the left side.

B & O signal crews are working on the construction of automatic gate signals for the grade crossing.

Veterans Day To Be Marked Here Thursday

Impressive ceremonies are being planned here Thursday to mark the first observance of Veterans Day.

The program for the day, formerly marked as Armistice Day, will be sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion.

The program, starting at 10 a. m., will include the naturalization of six citizens, several talks, unveiling of the Honor Roll moved from City Hall to the Post Office building, and a parade.

The Legion has issued an invitation to all veterans' organization, as well as to their auxiliaries and to the Gold Star Mothers and Navy Mothers, to participate in the celebration.

Naturalization Set
Through the cooperation of Allegany County Circuit Court and the naturalization section of the Department of Immigration, the program will commence in Circuit Court.

Associate Judge George Henderson will administer the oath of allegiance to six naturalized persons. Citizenship examinations will be held Tuesday.

The Marine Corps Reserve and the National Guard will provide a color guard in the courtroom and George Ziegler, commander of the Legion post here, will present the new citizens with a scroll of the Declaration of Independence.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall has tentatively accepted an invitation to attend and speak. An address will be delivered by Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the Allegany County Bar Association.

At 11 a. m., ceremonies will get underway in the Post Office building where the new Honor Roll will be unveiled. Postmaster Thomas P. Conlon will officiate and Mrs. Alpharetta King Parker will sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mayor Roy W. Eves will read a proclamation on Veterans Day and William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, will speak briefly.

Mason To Speak
In charge of the unveiling event will be the Gold Star Mothers. A color guard and the sounding of taps will precede a talk by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason.

Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will give the invocation and Rabbi Daniel Lewis, spiritual director of B'er Chayim Congregation, will offer a prayer. Rev. H. Maunsell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will officiate at the benediction.

A formal retreat to the colors will be held at 5 p. m. in the Legion Home on Harrison Street. Committeemen for the entire project include Thomas B. Finan, Russell J. Paupé, Samuel A. Graham, Ziegler, Conlon and Mason.

Living Cost For Farmers Takes Jump

Incomes Decline For State Group

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 7 (AP)—The cost of living took a jump for Maryland farmers between mid-September and mid-October.

The Maryland Crop Reporting Service said yesterday the prices received by farmers for their products dropped seven index points between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. At the same time, the prices the farmers pay for the things they use dropped only one index point.

The result, said the service, was that the farmers index of the ratio between prices received and prices paid dropped to 92 per cent from 95 a month earlier and 97 a year ago. However, Maryland farmers weren't so terribly far off—the nationwide score was 87.

The service said income from dairy products climbed a little, thanks to a seasonal increase in the wholesale price of milk. However, all other commodity groups showed declines.

The sharpest of these was in poultry products with the price of chickens hitting their lowest point since last December.

Prices increased for barley and wheat, and oats were unchanged, but other grains were lower—corn down 23 cents a bushel and soybeans down 15 cents.

Prices for hogs, beef cattle, veal calves and lambs went down. Hog prices dropped the farthest as the marketing of the spring pig crop increased.

Minds That Never Mature

By RABBI JOSEPH SCHIMELMAN

In the Bible we find the story of the mighty flood that swept clean across the face of the earth. Years passed by and a new generation arose. "And they journeyed from the East and they found a valley in the land of Shinar, and they settled there."

These people of Shinar built a famous tower, the Tower of Babel, and rebelled against God. They were then dispersed throughout the world. In discussing the tragedy of the people of Shinar the pages of the Talmud asked, "Why was the land called Shinar?" And the answer was given: Because, in Hebrew, it denotes that its leaders died while they were very young.

I feel certain that the ages were not referring to chronological age. It is inconceivable that youngsters could rise to a position of leadership among their people. I am inclined to believe that in studying the behavior of the people who built this tower as a symbol of rebellion against God, the sages concluded that they had minds that never grew up.

This deficiency still plagues mankind today. How many people are there who have grown into fine physical specimens, but evince childish attitudes and ideas about life?

Let us take the example of sensitivity. It is normal for a child to be sensitive. That is the way a child learns about its environment, and the way the adolescent adjusts himself to society. But it is unnatural to remain unduly sensitive for the remainder of one's life. Over-sensitivity and hysterical aversion to criticism is responsible for quarrels in the home, for misunderstandings among neighbors and friends.

A mature person should learn to direct his sensitivity to serve the best interests of God and man.

Did you ever come across an individual of the rebellious and complaining variety? They can nag a person to distraction. Life is cruel, they whine. No one can be trusted. The whole world is selfish, except themselves. If God doesn't come to their aid immediately, they are through with religion.

They are like rebellious children who feel others are receiving preferential treatment, and so they quit organization, leave society, and become sour and cynical.

Such people have not outgrown their childhood. A mature person realizes that life is a mixture of bitter and sweet, of joy and sorrow. Let us therefore examine our attitudes and perspective. Let us not be like the people of Shinar, who in their immature minds rebelled against God and so were punished. Let us all try to grow up mentally and emotionally, as well as physically.

4-H Junior Extension Will Hear Student

Harry Magness of Harford County, an international farm youth exchange student, will talk about his farm experiences in Belgium at a meeting of the Allegany County 4-H Junior Extension Wednesday at 8 p. m. in the Knights of Malta Hall.

Miss Justine E. Miller, assistant home demonstration agent, and James A. Weamert, assistant county agent, stress that local 4-H Club leaders and older 4-H boys and girls are especially invited. The Knights of Malta Hall is located on Prospect Square, just behind the Court House. Refreshments will be served.

Varied Activities Planned To Mark Optimist Week Here

Cumberland Optimist Club, joining nearly 1,000 other clubs throughout the nation, will observe Optimist Week this week with a series of events which began yesterday and will end on Saturday.

Highlights of the week-long observance will include the banquet and awarding of a plaque to C. E. Van Ausdale as the city's most optimistic person of the year on Wednesday and the crowning of a queen, Miss Optimist, by the Braddock Junior Optimist Club Thursday.

Yesterday was Church Day for the Optimists, their wives and friends, and members of the junior Optimist club as they attended services at Central Methodist Church.

Today President Earl Nonnenmann will ask the Mayor and City Council to issue a proclamation setting aside this week as Optimist Week. He also will present Mayor Roy W. Eves with a framed copy of the Optimist Creed.

Homer S. Higgins, a member of the Optimist Club and supervisor of pupil personnel for the Allegany County Board of Education will present a copy of the creed to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and the principals of various county public schools on Tuesday. He also will request the creed be read to school students by their teachers.

At the regular weekly dinner meeting Wednesday at 6 p. m. at the Central YMCA, Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, will be the principal speaker as Van Ausdale is honored and presented with the plaque proclaiming him the year's most optimistic person. Van Ausdale, stricken with polio in 1928 and lacking almost complete use of his legs, still works every day at his job as a lens grinder at the White Haines Optical Company here.

Thursday the Optimists will honor veterans and will participate in the Veterans Day parade that evening. The Junior Optimists will announce their selection as queen and she will take part in the parade.

Members of the Optimist Club's Hot Stove League baseball team, champions of the circuit, will also participate along with the Braddock Junior Optimists Club. Balloons will be released along the parade route.

Additional plans are scheduled Friday and Saturday under the direction of the committee in charge, Robert Collins, chairman, Donald W. Mason and Walter Weires.

Officers in the club are President Nonnenmann, vice presidents Mason, Frank Kaplan, Orville Swartley and Wallace Wilson and I. Newton Evans, secretary treasurer.

Aged Man Lost On Mountain For Nearly 4 Hours

'Blacks Out' During Search For Walnuts

A 69-year-old Cumberland man was lost for nearly four hours on Warrior Mountain last night before finding his way home.

O. R. Spangler, 410 Broadway Circle, was reported by his family to be "very tired and badly scratched up" after he came home at 9:30 p. m. after having been missing in the woodlands since about 6 o'clock.

The elderly man had gone into the woods with a friend, Ira Kesseker, Louisiana Avenue, to hunt walnuts about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

When Kesseker returned to Cumberland in the car at 6 p. m. and reported he was unable to locate Spangler in the forest, the family notified State Police.

Meanwhile several of the retired B&O railroad freight conductor's former working companions organized a search and, with Kesseker, returned to Warrior Mountain.

Spangler, badly scratched about the face, arms and legs, returned to his home some 3 1/2 hours later.

His family said he told them he "blacked out" while on his way to join Kesseker at their car after they had finished their search for walnuts.

When he regained consciousness before Kesseker returned to the woods to look for him he lost his bearings, he said, and started in the opposite direction.

When Kesseker did come looking for him he was unable to find the man, and after searching for awhile in the woods returned to Cumberland to report him missing.

Spangler's family said last night he is an experienced hunter and woodsman and they became concerned for his health when he didn't return. It was the first time he ever became lost, they said.

The elderly man said he walked about 10 miles before coming upon a road which he followed until he found familiar surroundings. He said he stopped at several farm houses along the way but found no one at home.

Finally when he regained his bearings Spangler asked a man who lived in the area to bring him home in his automobile.

City Has Fixed Assets Valued At $14,146,000

Fixed assets of the City of Cumberland are valued at $14,146,000, almost double the bonded indebtedness, according to the audited 1954 financial report.

Included in the city-owned property are bridges and subways with a book value of $3,730,737.23, a sewage system valued at $1,469,307.02, and public buildings and land worth some $137,066.

Flood protection work which has been turned over to the city is valued at $1,376,568.80. City-owned lots are valued at $94,940 and public parks at $186,605.75.

The city-owned Memorial Hospital is carried on the books at $729,895.50.

The Water Department assets include dams, water lines, buildings and equipment valued at $5,822,351.39, and the city holds title to all of the $25,000 stock of the Evitts Creek Water Company, the Pennsylvania corporation which operates the city's storage and water treatment facilities in the Lake Gordon area.

The report, prepared by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, lists the values of the assets as $6,906,404.02 in excess of bonded indebtedness.

Against these assets were $2,340,000 of general bonds due serially and $1,275,000 of term bonds, making a total general obligation of $3,615,000.

Water Department bonds, both serial and term, totaled $3,625,000, making the total bonded indebtedness of the city $7,240,000 on June 30.

Set aside in a sinking fund was $2,653,555.98 to retire the $3,980,000 of term bonds.

Totals in the 5th District congressional contest, the only other race affected by the Anne Arundel official figures, stood at 61,109 for Democrat Richard E. Lankford and 52,419 for Rep. Frank Small.

Jail Inmate Cuts Wrist With Blade

A 33-year-old Bloomington man, an inmate of the Mineral County Jail in Keyser, slashed one of his wrists early Saturday night, according to Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of West Virginia State Police.

The man, William Warren Wilson, was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser by Cpl. Tribett for treatment of his wound and then was returned to his cell.

Wilson was arrested last Wednesday on a robbery charge and is being held pending action of the January grand jury. He and Arlie W. Evans, 37, of Beryl, W. Va., are accused of robbing Alex Briskie, 69-year-old retired coal miner, of $100.

Jail attendants said that in the past several days the prisoner had acted strangely.

No explanation was offered as to how Wilson happened to have a razor in his cell.

Fort Ashby Man Found Dead Of Bullet Wound

Paul Klein's Body Discovered At Home

A retired 59-year-old Fort Ashby man took his own life about 6:30 last evening after calling a friend of the family and telling where his body would be found.

Paul Hubert Klein was found lying at the foot of the front porch of his home in Fort Ashby with a bullet in his right temple. A .38 caliber revolver was lying beside the body and Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin of Mineral County said the death was a suicide. He indicated no inquest will be held.

Grocer Gets Call
Cecil Hershberger, Fort Ashby grocer, told Rankin and Cpl. F. H. Tribett of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police that Klein had called him shortly before 6:30 and said he was "going to do away with myself."

Hershberger said Klein told him where it would happen. The grocer immediately got in touch with K. B. Welch, secretary of the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company, and the pair drove immediately to the Klein home.

They found Klein's body lying face up beside the front porch walk at the bottom of the steps. No one else was home at the time and neighbors who lived next door to the Kleins reported hearing the shot but believed it was a car backfiring at the time. He apparently shot himself just a few moments before Hershberger and Welch arrived.

Welsh said Klein was a member of the fire company and that he and Hershberger were friends of the dead man and his family.

Note On Desk
Tribett and Rankin said Klein left a note on a writing desk in his home outlining arrangements for his funeral and indicated he was despondent because of ill health.

Friends of the family stated that Klein had been ill for a number of years, troubled mainly with an asthmatic condition.

His family had been visiting in Paw Paw and were on their way home when the shooting occurred. The World War I veteran had lived in Fort Ashby for about 15 years, they said.

Born in Okonoko, W.Va., Klein was a former Peoples Life Insurance Company agent and also a salesman for Spoer's Garage in Cumberland. In later years he had been custodian of the Fort Ashby High School before his illness forced him to retire.

Besides being a member of the volunteer fire company, Klein belonged to Knobley Mountain Post 136, Ridgeley American Legion, the Methodist Church, and the Cumberland Knights of Malta Star of East Commandery Lodge 461.

He is survived by his widow, the former Nannie G. Kaylor; a daughter, Mrs. Maxine Malcolm, Fort Ashby; three grandchildren; three brothers, Albert C. Klein, Berkeley Springs; Henry E. Klein, Romney; and Milton S. Klein, Hyattsville.

Three sisters, Mrs. Edith Largent, Mrs. Guy Kave, and Mrs. Charles Rice, all of Cumberland, also survive.

Fire Training Classes To Be Held In Area

Plans Progress For State Meeting Here

Plans for fire training courses in Western Maryland were completed in LaVale yesterday at a meeting of the executive board of the Allegany and Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

David E. Kirk, president, said the classes will be taught by William A. Wilson, Cromwell E. Zembower and Joseph Stuckey under the direction of the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

Wilson will teach the basic fire fighting course at Barton on Sundays at 2:30 p. m., an advanced course at Frostburg on Sundays at 7:30 p. m. and a basic course Mondays at 7:30 p. m. in Midland.

Classes Scheduled
Zembower will be instructor for an advanced class, for the Kitzmiller and Deer Park area, at Kitzmiller on Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m.; an advanced class at Grantsville Fridays at 6:30 p. m.

Stuckey will teach an advanced course in Westernport Thursdays at 7:30 p. m. and advanced training at Corriganville Wednesdays at 7:30 p. m.

Robert Byrus, chief of the fire service, outlined the 20 week courses and said they will be part of the 88 classes being held in the state this fall and winter.

Zembower, who heads the association's Civil Defense committee, announced that all volunteer fire companies desiring mobile radios should apply immediately to William G. Barger, county CD director.

Radio equipment was installed on equipment used by 20 companies last year, and additional equipment can be secured, he added, from 1954-55 CD appropriations.

Plan Convention
The Fire Prevention committee reported talks were made before FTA groups in Ellerslie, Corriganville and Midland, the Mt. Savage Lions Club and the Kiwanis and Optimist clubs of Cumberland.

The convention committee reported plans are progressing for the 1955 state convention to be held in Cumberland in June and that another meeting will be held December 12 in LaVale.

Yesterday's executive session was attended by representatives of 21 of the 31 fire companies in the association.

The next meeting of the executive board will be held December 5 at 2 p. m. in Corriganville.

Kirk announced that 10 representatives from Allegany and Garrett counties will attend a meeting of the state executive board Sunday in Havre de Grace.

Police Locate Stolen Purse

City police last night reported they had recovered a purse which was stolen from a counter in a local store Thursday, October 28.

The blue velvet pocketbook belongs to Miss Pauline Tichnell, RD 3, Keyser, who told police a young girl picked up the purse as she sat beside Miss Tichnell who was on her lunch hour at the time.

Detective Joseph Stutcher said last night the pocketbook had been found yesterday afternoon in an alleyway by Daniel B. Bailey, 108 Pennsylvania Avenue, at the rear of his garage. Bailey turned the purse over to police.

Stutcher stated the contents of the purse, including wallet, credentials and other items were intact although $27, also reported to have been in the pocketbook by Miss Tichnell, is missing.

Meanwhile police picked up and questioned two youngsters, 11 and 14 years old, in connection with reported gasoline thefts from the pump located at the city dump.

Stutcher said the pair admitted the thefts and implicated an older man who reportedly got the boys out of their beds early in the morning Saturday to steal the gasoline. The thefts first were reported by the caretaker at the dump about a month ago.

Both boys have been remanded to the custody of their parents.

Romney Woman Named On AEWA Board

Mrs. Maxine R. Strother, Romney, was one of the new members of the board of directors of the Agricultural Extension Workers Association of West Virginia, named at the annual conference held at Jackson's Mill, W. Va.

Others named with her are Lynn Spiker, Weston, and James O. Baker, Harrisonville.

The Weather

Yesterday was lovely fall weather, a little on the crisp side, but offered a promise that Indian Summer might pay a return visit before winter sets in for good. The official Park weather station was a cool 51 degrees, the low was 22 and it was 36 at 8
